I sort of fall for that combination whereby the automobile also serves as a home. It saves hauling an extra vehicle around, but some people prefer that method of camp life. Noticed one of those home-like arrangements in front of the postoffice where the occupants either stopped for mail from the old home town, or wanted to send a few souvenir cards to the folk they left behind them. Mother was doing a little knitting, "Pop" had a reclining chair, kitchen available, sleeping accommodations provided for—say, it was just like being home only you were far from it. The combination trailer meets the ordinance requirements of most cities, and it has many advantages. At that you can detach a trailer any old time and most any old place, which gives it a little preference. Oh, well, every tourist to his own ideas.

Most of my colleagues are either returning from or just going on their vacations. It keeps me busy greeting the home-comers or wishing good luck to those departing. In the meantime the germ of a vacation is sprouting in my own mind, and I am planning to draft a dozen fellows who claim to be friends to do a bit of guest editing for this column. You may not like it, but I will.

Master barbers are asking for a fifty cent haircut ordinance. If I do not oppose such an ordinance maybe Dr. Olevier, Bill Jerome will. When the buzzer can go over my head in five minutes at fifty cents per clip, and I pay 25 cents for a shave which consumes twenty-five minutes operation, who is there to complain if I don't.

Costa Mesa citizen using the Lord's Day to do a little delayed screen painting is warned by the wife that no good will come from such a labor, and the warning is dismissed by the painter. Friends whizzing by in their automobiles wave greetings and industrious husband courteously responds. His acknowledgments become too vigorous and the ladder slips and the painter with it, with the result that black paint is spilled over the house and the had omen came true. Which forces most husbands to admit to friends that they would be much better off if they listened to their wives, but won't make the confession at home.

Kennedy Miller comes right up to my typewriter and tells me he is just home from a Bishop fishing trip, where angling is excellent and mosquitoes as big as I am. He warned me to take a tent along if I invaded that territory.

It's an ill wind that blows no good, and I am informed by a friend that the landing of the Soviet plane in a San Jacinto pasture was a nice little zephyr of good luck to the owner. Getting money from Moscow is quite unusual. The Russian file put on the show but the home-folk had to buy the tickets. It was a nice little "clean-up" for our San Jacinto citizen, and probably means a new doll for the baby, another hat for mother, and maybe dad will have enough left for a new tie.

Members of the Santa Ana Elks delegation to the Denver convention forwarded to my address copies of the Denver Post, containing extended information about the convention. I haven't had time to go through each copy, but I expect that the best items were left out. Be that as it may the Denver papers were generous in devoting reports of the Grand Lodge meeting, and a mere casual reading would indicate if the visiting Elks did not have a good time it wasn't the fault of the Colorado metropolis. It's been a long time since the Brown Palace or the Auditorium Hotel got any of my money, but I have no regrets over the money which did go over the counter. I always got full value received. In passing one good reason might be presented for the existence of this great fraternal order. It spent $1,400,248 the past year for charitable, patriotic and educational purposes. So there is (See SKINNY, Page 2)

GUGLIELMO MARCONI

INVENTOR'S HEART FAILS

Il Duce Kisses Friend;
Funeral Set Tomorrow

ROME. (AP)—The Marquis Guglielmo Marconi, who invented wireless telegraphy when he was only 21 years old, died unexpectedly at 3:45 a. m. today at the ancient palace in downtown Rome where he lived and worked.

The 63-year-old conqueror of the ether died quietly of heart paralysis. His widow, the Countess Cristina Bezz-Scala, was at his bedside. She had been calling back from the seaside resort of Viareggio when he began to feel ill yesterday afternoon.

MUNICIPAL PAY RAISE OKED

City employees began planning on how to spend that extra pay in their envelopes today.

Last night the city council acted officially to approve a blanket increase of 10 per cent in wages of all city employees.

A resolution was adopted, setting forth the salaries of the 155 city employees affected. The blanket salary increase makes total salaries for the fiscal year $336,743 as compared with $306,570 for the last fiscal year.

City Employees to Be Finger-Printed

City employees will be fingerprinted and indexed for identification purposes, it was decided by the city council last night.

On motion of Councilman Joseph P. Smith, the council authorized the purchasing agent to buy identification cards for the city employees, on which will appear their fingerprints.

The matter was made a requirement by the council. It was stated that some city employees have been having this done on a voluntary basis.

ARMY WILL LAND TROOPS AT SEAPORT

Punitive Shelling Starts New Fighting

TIENSIN. (AP)—The Japanese army seized control today of the entire waterfront at Tangku, including wharves, Chinese customs offices and foreign shipping companies, in preparation for the expected arrival of 35,000 troops from Japan.

Tangku is the port for Tientsin, connected by rail and water with this city, in the center of the north China conflict.

Alarmed Chinese streamed from Tientsin into the foreign concessions with the first reports of today's new fighting near Peiping.

LYNCH 2 WHO CUT OFFICER

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Two young negroes accused of stabbing a Tallahassee policeman were taken from the county jail—located two blocks from the state capitol—today and shot to death by a small mob of masked men.

A warning, this is what will happen to all negroes that harm white people, were found at the scene of the lynching.

Awakened by cries for help from the cell block of the jail, County Jailor Robert Maize said he found Harry Fairbanks, city police desk sergeant, locked inside the block. Fairbanks told him, Maize said, that a band of men entered police headquarters and forced him at gun point to go to the county jail and deliver the negroes to them.

Authorities yesterday charged the two negroes, listed as Richard Hawkins and Ernest Ponder, each about 18, with stabbing Patrolman V. E. Kelly Sunday. Police said both confessed, each accusing the other of the actual stabbing. The patrolman is in serious condition.

Accident Ends Cowboy's Career

SALINAS. (AP)—Leonard Ward of Saugus apparently ended his career as a performing cowboy at the California Rodeo last week.

Hospital attendants reported today that Ward's fractured right leg probably would prevent him from performing again as a steer wrestler. He was injured Saturday when a steer rolled on him.

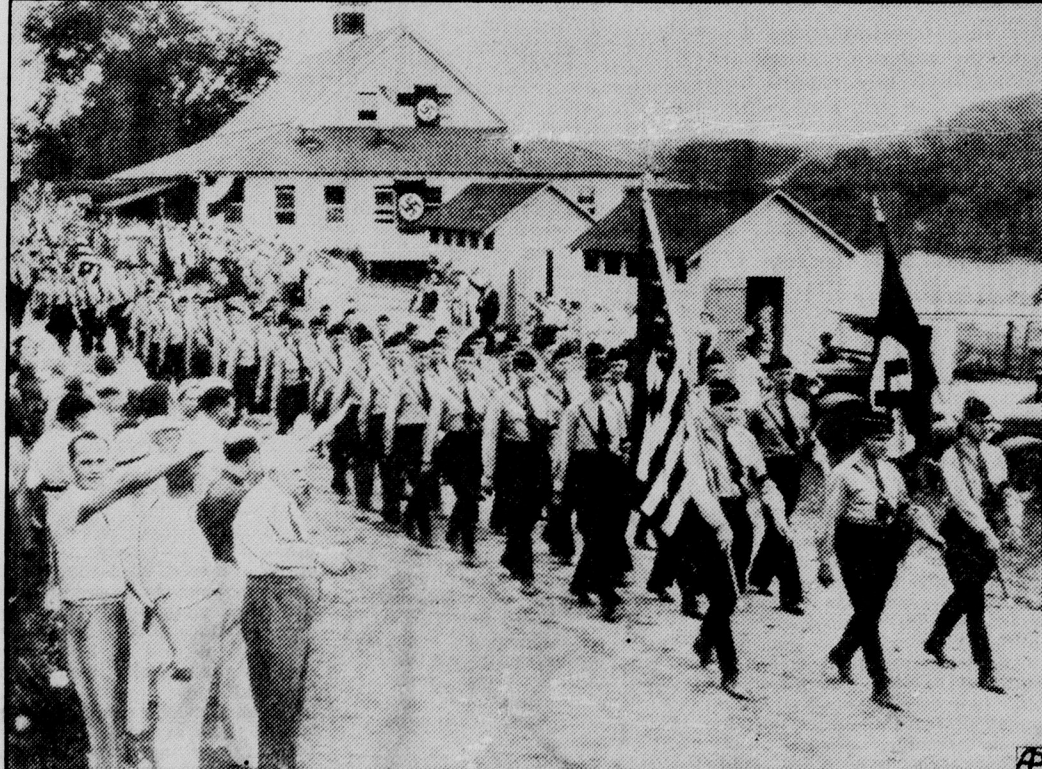

Rich Tax Evader Goes to Jail

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Edward M. Smith, wealthy head of various Emco corporations, today was en route to McNeill's island federal prison to serve 18 months sentence for income tax evasion.

—Including Sergt. George Leonard of the Bear Mountain police, who was Miller's best man. The policeman had gone to the inn, located just above Haverstraw, to attend a pre-wedding party for the proprietor's daughter. Mrs. Del Negro was also a wedding guest. She just arrived from Brooklyn when dashing Miller walked in, made himself agreeable, cashed a $125 forged check to finance his adventure and proceeded to besiege the widow's heart.

Before midnight the ex-convict had proposed, been accepted by the widow, and persuaded Sergt. Leonard to be best man at what was joyfully agreed would be the double wedding the following

Swastika Flags Fly in New Jersey

Nearly 1,000 men wearing Swastika arm bands marched under Swastika flags as the New Jersey German-American bund opened its 100-acre camp in the Sussex Hills near Andover. A group of Italian-American "Blackshirts" were guests. Their spokesman termed bund members "Nazi friends."

MADRID SIEGE IN 6TH DAY

By the Associated Press

An estimated 200,000 men, about equally divided between insurgent and government armies, were locked today in the sixth day of the "Battle for Madrid."

Government aircraft dumped heavy cargoes of explosives at Navalagamella, on the front west of Madrid, to shatter lines of supply for thousands of seasoned fighters.

Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Navalagamella was the pivotal point in the battle that may foretell the outcome of the civil war.

There were repeated air battles, air attacks on opposing lines by both sides and tank charges. Trench and artillery warfare, an incessant deafening duel, was of World war intensity.

Boy Held on Shotgun Court

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Charles Quiggle, 13, was held by juvenile authorities today, pending further investigation of the shotgun shooting of his brother-in-law, Dwin Woodruff, 22.

Woodruff, with his wife, Bessie, 21, tried to follow her into the home of her mother, Mrs. Olive Quiggle, yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Brewster said the boy told him Woodruff was breaking in the door and he seized a light shotgun and fired through the glass.

The widow, frantic over the situation, communicated with the erstwhile best man, Sergt. Leonard, who got in touch with the state police.

Miller was pinched in a telephone booth at Fort Lee, N. J., while trying to persuade the widow to join him in Brooklyn.

New Compromise Seen in Court Bill

WASHINGTON. (AP)—An administration spokesman said today that a new compromise court bill possibly would be offered to win the support of opponents of the measure now before the senate.

This official, who would not be quoted by name, said there was very decided relief all around that the bitter contest over court reorganization in the senate would "work out surprisingly satisfactory to all concerned."

He expressed these opinions after Vice President Garner had spent more than an hour at the White House with President Roosevelt.

Subsequently discussing the senate court bill opponents abandoned their plan for an immediate showdown on the court bill.

Administration chiefs are determined to oppose any showdown until the senate Democrats have chosen a new leader to succeed Majority leader, Robinson.

Strength in the leadership contest was almost equally split between Senators Harrison (D., Miss.) and Barkley (D., Ky.).

A caucus of party members in the senate is scheduled for tomorrow morning. The question of leadership may be settled at that time.

The administration spokesman said that public opposition to the court bill voiced yesterday by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York was not particularly surprising to the administration but that the timing of the publication of his letter to Senator Wagner (D., N. Y.) was "deadly" aimed.

Subsequently discussing the possibility of a new compromise the administration spokesman said President Roosevelt's court program embraced five separate phases and on only one, that calling for appointment of additional justices to the supreme court, was there substantial opposition.

In accordance with the agreement announced by Barkley as acting majority leader, the senate adjourned without transacting any business today.

Mule Deprives 'Scotty' of Rodeo Trip

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A mule's mis-step will deprive the Pioneer days rodeo at Ogden, Utah, of the presence of Death Valley Scotty, picturesque "desert rat."

Unable to walk because of a broken foot, Scotty explained that one of his mules stepped on it at his castle in Death valley several days ago.

As a result, the veteran prospector declined the rodeo's invitation to be "king." He will go to Los Angeles to rest up instead.

LOCAL RANKS TRIPLE IN PAST FOUR MONTHS

A. F. of L. Holds Lead in Organization Work

Organized labor in Orange county marched toward a membership goal of 10,000 today.

American Federation of Labor leaders here predicted freely today that the goal will be reached within the next six months. And when that goal is reached they will set a new one!

The terrific pace at which workers are being organized in this county was revealed in amazing figures announced by President Norris Stone and Secretary J. A. Trendle of the Central Labor council.

Four months ago the total membership of unions in Orange county was 1500. Today it is 4500. (See UNIONS SET, Page 2)

BOARD MAKES BOND PLEDGE

A three-fold pledge was made to the public today by the board of supervisors in regard to the $2,500,000 bond issue to be voted upon Tuesday, July 27.

Adopted unanimously, the statement said:

So that there may be no misunderstanding concerning the plans of the board of supervisors relative to the project in which the county will join under the bond issue to be voted upon July 27, the members of the board of supervisors make the following statement and pledge to the people of Orange county:

First, the expenditure of $2,500,000 or any part of the $2,500,000 concerned in this issue is contingent upon participation of the federal government.

Second, federal participation in this connection means that the federal government will pay for the construction.

Third, these bonds when voted will not be sold until funds are necessary in order to carry on the project with the government.

Gambler Dies in Beach Shooting

REDONDO BEACH. (AP)—Victim of What Capt. William Penprase of the Los Angeles county sheriff's office termed a gang shooting, George (Les) Bruneman, cafe operator and bookmaker, was reported by doctors as near death in a Torrance hospital today, a bullet wound in his lung.

A prominent figure in the E. L. (Zeke) Carass kidnapping case of several years ago, Bruneman was fired upon by one of two unidentified men as he strolled on the boardwalk of the amusement zone here last night with Miss Patricia Eatone, 28-year-old hostess of a beach club.

Mattern Flight May Be Halted

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Commerce department officials said today there is little chance that Jimmie Mattern will be permitted to make a proposed North pole flight to Moscow.

These authorities, wanting to prevent recurrence of such air tragedies as the loss of Amelia Earhart, said it also is doubtful that projected world flights by Howard Hughes and Dick Merrill will be authorized.

Supervisor Finley Ill at Hospital

Supervisor Steele Finley of Santa Ana taken ill yesterday, was reported improved today at St. Joseph's hospital.

Finley was prevented by his illness from attending sessions of the board yesterday and today.

Vote 'Yes' July 27

One week from today Orange county voters will be given the chance to vote themselves a $15,000,000 flood control program for a local cost of only $2,500,000. If voters approve bonds for the smaller amount, the federal government will pay the rest. Help get this much-needed bargain. Vote "Yes" July 27.

'JUGGLING' OF CITRUS TOLD BY OFFICIAL

Hearing Starts Today in Anaheim Case

Anaheim citrus growers who have been battling for two weeks to save a carload of assertedly frozen oranges from confiscation learned today they might not have been paid packed-box prices even if the fruit had slipped by inspection.

N. F. Byrd, state agricultural inspector, threw this bombshell into Presiding Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court today as the state opened its case against 928 boxes of oranges, asking for a court order condemning the fruit.

Byrd related a conversation he had July 4 with Alex Jones, employee of Western Fruit Growers, in whose packinghouse the fruit in question was tagged and impounded after inspection.

TELLS OF DEAL
After persuading him to go into the office on the pretense that there was a letter for the inspector there, Byrd said Jones wanted to know "if I could do anything for him."

"He said," Byrd testified, "that the fruit belonged to Ed Mills (manager of the Anaheim Community Growers) and that Jerry Miller (manager of the Western house) was going to handle the fruit for 90 cents a box, with an extra charge of 5 cents if the fruit had to go through the separator."

"He said he knew Mills was taking the fruit on a consignment basis and that they were going to pay the growers on a by-products basis."

FROST DAMAGE HIGH
Byrd told how he and Joe Hightower, state inspector who signed the petition asking condemnation of the fruit after impounding it July 4, took samples from a loaded refrigerator car in front of the Western packing house and found a high degree of frost damage.

Out of 100 samples taken from each of four sizes of fruit, he testified, in every case a number were over 40 per cent damaged and a larger number over 20 per cent.

MERCHANTS MAP EVENTS

Decision to appoint an events committee to plan merchant promotion programs for the coming year was made at a meeting of the retail division of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce this morning.

Clifford Steele, chairman of the division, will make the appointments.

Merchant events which the committee will handle, Steele said, include the Christmas celebration, spring opening and style show, spring and fall dollar days, straw hat day, and the fall opening and style show.

Two other proposed events—an annual employees picnic and a ladies day—were discussed at the meeting.

Another meeting of the retail division will be held early in August to lay plans for the fall opening.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

If you want a job done well, give it to a man that takes pride in his work. You may have to wait a little longer for it, but when you get it, it'll be done right. We've got an old tailor down home that has the reputation of being the best pants maker in seven counties, but you can't rush him.

A traveling man heard of his reputation one time, and while he was in town he ordered a pair of pants from this old tailor. The salesman left town and came back in two weeks and called up the tailor and the tailor says, "Your pants ain't done yet but I'm working 'em on 'em." A month later the salesman came back to town and his pants wasn't ready yet.

Finally on his fourth trip he dropped around to the tailor's shop and found the old tailor had just finished the last stitch. The salesman was a pretty mad. He turned to the tailor and he says, "It took six days to make the world and it took you 80 days to make these pants!" The old tailor said, "Yes, but just take a look at the world and then take a look at them pants."

NEW CITY PARK PURCHASE IN SOUTHEAST URGED BY LAYTON

FIRST STEP OF RECREATION SYSTEM

Acreage Costs $3850; Improvements $1000

Negotiations for purchase of a new city park were launched today.

Councilman Ernest H. Layton proposed the matter at a meeting of the city council last night, suggesting that the city acquire 257 acres of land at the end of Camille street between Oak and Maple streets.

Purchase of this park site is in line with the city's recently announced policy of spotting neighborhood parks throughout various sections of the city as recreational centers. If this park is developed, it will be the first such park.

The city has been offered the land for $3850, and it would cost but from $1000 to $2000 to plant grass, shrubs and equip the playground in the first development.

"This site," Layton said today, "is the last available acreage in the southeastern part of the city which the city can purchase at a price it can afford to pay. It is in the center of what will be a fine residential district. In fact, it now is in a splendid location from a beneficial use standpoint."

Last night Layton showed members of the council a picture map of the proposed park which would have entrances at each of the four corners. Walks would be graveled, and grass and shrubs planted. Special areas would be set aside for tennis, football and handball games. Other playground equipment also would be installed. Layton said maintenance of the park would take about one-third of a man's time.

The council referred the plan to the city forestry board for comment and study.

more to the B. P. O. E. than just a friendly "Hello Bill."

SUNSET AND EVENING STAR

After making a courageous fight against the enemies of the flesh, Claude Van Antwerp yields in a prolonged struggle, and emerges victorious through him who conquered death. He retired from a successful business to rest and devote himself to the care of the body, and sought scientific study with which to defeat the steady encroachments which relentlessly fight the human race. He gained and lost, but kept a cheerful and hopeful attitude. Loving hands administered to him during his illness; his friends expressed their concern and hoped for his recovery. Like the flowers of the field the withering ravages of disease inflicted the penalty, and we now have only the memory of a good man, who lived among us a respected citizen; who left a record for business integrity and success, and the sunshine of a good neighbor. Claude Van Antwerp was a substantial unit in our civic life. He was conservative, yet aggressive in those things he believed were right and for the best interest of his city and his friends. He was industrious and never left a task incomplete. His thoroughness accounted for his business success. Aside from the marital affairs which consumed so much of our time, he gave heed to matters spiritual. His life was well balanced. Many friends who will miss "Van's" cordial welcome, with bowed head will gather solace in the promise that "the weary are at rest."

CHINA CRISIS GROWS WORSE

pinghsien burst into flames, the Domei (Japanese) News agency reported tonight, under punitive shelling by Japanese artillery.

Fighting broke out at Wang-pinghsien and other positions in the west of Peiping at 2:30 p. m., two and one-half hours after an ultimatum demanding Chinese evacuation of the area had expired.

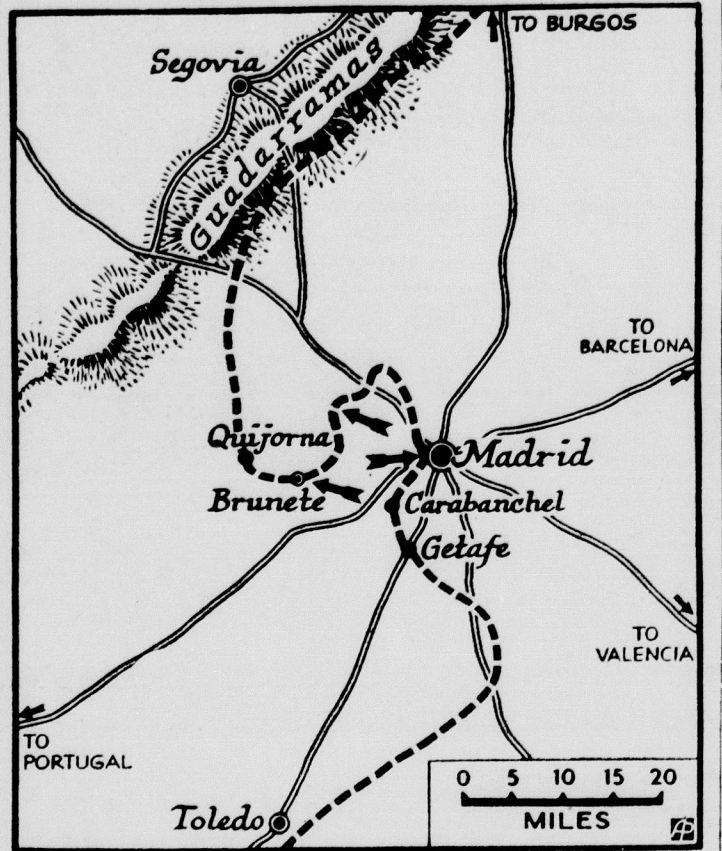

Fire still raged in the Chinese barracks at 6 p. m., tonight (2 a. m., PST.)

A thousand Japanese troops participated in the attack against Wang-pinghsien, and the city was shelled for more than two hours. The crisis again appeared highly dangerous. Nanking dispatches said Premier Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek had returned there from his summer residence at Kuling, ready to take full charge of Chinese plans to offset what Chinese consider to be a Japanese incursion in North China.

Printers to Stay With A. F. of L.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The International Typographical Union will not break from the American Federation of Labor, Charles P. Howard, president, said when he visited Portland. He told reporters: "We could gain no practical benefit by making the change because our union had too many investments to leave behind."

Spanish Struggle for Madrid

Insurgents launched a fierce drive on government troops west of Madrid, with Brunete the center of the offensive. Planes and artillery of both sides crashed bombs and shells into opposite lines near Brunete and closer to Madrid. Arrows on this map indicate the battle front and direction of the insurgent attack.

RASKOB TO START LARGE SCALE SOUTHWEST FARMING PROJECT

NEW YORK. (AP)—A Montana wheat "king" and a New York industrialist and financier, Thomas D. Campbell and John J. Raskob, have formed a partnership to conduct large-scale farming in New Mexico.

They already own 216,000 acres, which they bought last May—the La Joya grant in Socorro county, the title of which dates from the 18th century Spanish conquest—and last week they took an option on the 70,000-acre Belen grant in adjoining Valencia county.

With the 286,000 acres they are among the state's largest landholders. Sitting in his office on the 80th floor of the Empire State building—in which he and Pierre S. DuPont, his onetime employer and business associate for many years, are heavily interested—Raskob discussed his partnership today: "I don't know anything about farming, but Campbell knows enough for both of us. I like the Southwest and for a long time have wanted to own a large tract of land which could, with irrigation and scientific farming, be turned into useful production.

The price of the La Joya grant, Raskob said, was "under $1 an acre."

"But we will spend very much more than the purchase price in the next few years," he added, "in irrigation and soil development."

Campbell, who has long been known as the "Montana wheat king" and who was retained by the Soviet government in the agricultural development under the first five-year plan, will be in charge of farming operations for the partnership.

"There's been a story going around for some months," Raskob said, "that I intended to make my home in either New Mexico, or Nevada, or Arizona and try to get into the senate from one of those states. The stories are perfectly ridiculous and absolutely untrue."

Two U. S. Women Hit by Japanese

PEIPING, China. (AP)—Two American women were kicked and shoved, they told the United States embassy here, by Japanese sentries on guard before the Japanese embassy.

The women were Mrs. Helen R. Jones of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Carol Lathrop of Washington, D. C.

The American embassy said it was calling attention to the attack to Japanese officials, after depositions were made by the two women.

Low Flying Said Cause of Crash

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Low flying in violation of department of commerce regulations has been fixed by department inspector as the primary cause of a crash which killed two young student fliers at the foot of the Sandia mountains here Sunday.

Horace Ross, 22, was piloting the plane. His companion and passenger was Harold Kimmel, 23. The plane apparently sideslipped to the ground in making a left bank turn at a height of about 150 feet.

S. F. Mayor Fills Two Police Posts

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Mayor Angelo J. Rossi, has filled two police commission posts vacated as a result of the grand jury graft investigation.

The new members of the three-place commission, who are to be sworn in at 12:30 p. m., are Sylvester Andriano, former city supervisor from 1928 to 1932 and J. Ward Mailliard, jr., wholesale merchant.

Garner Puffs And Says Little On Activities

CINCINNATI. (AP)—Pausing briefly en route to Washington, Vice President John N. Garner said here he was "uncertain" how long he would remain. "I'll determine that when I get there," he said between puffs on a long black cigar. Garner, returning from a vacation at his Uvalde, Texas home, was aboard the special train which last week bore the body of Senate Majority Leader Joseph E. Robinson to his last resting place in Arkansas.

MARCONI DIES SUDDENLY

and will not return to Rome until time for the state funeral. Today is his eighth birthday.

Premier Mussolini, whose ardent supporter Marconi had been, was notified of the death immediately. He dispatched a telegram of condolences and later went to Marconi's home in the Via Condotti and paid his respects beside the body.

Il Duce approached the bed, which was lighted at the four corners by tall candles. He paused, then bent and kissed the dead man on the forehead.

The body was carried from the home in a rough wooden casket shortly after noon and taken by motor hearse to the Italian Royal Academy of which Marconi was president.

Marconi was dressed in the gold embroidered uniform of the academy, a rosary clasped in his hands. Nearby was the tri-cornered academy hat and at the left of the body the straight sword of his office.

A state funeral will be given for the inventor at 6 p. m. (9 a. m. P.S.T.) tomorrow, it was officially announced. An imposing funeral procession will move from the academy, probably to the Church of St. Mary of the Angel, which is built into the old Roman bath of Diocletian.

Fascists believed Mussolini would walk in the procession. PRIEST ASSISTS

Marconi received the last sacrament from his parish priest, Father Paolo Rappi. He murmured the names of his wife and daughter, his last audible words a moment before death came.

A friend of the family said Pope Pius learned of the inventor's condition before death came. The Pontiff was said to have arisen from bed at 2:30 o'clock in the morning and personally telephoned the Marconi home to inquire. He retired to his private chapel to pray for Marconi's soul.

The first intimation that Marconi was not feeling well came yesterday afternoon when he was forced to cancel an appointment with Il Duce.

WORKS, ALTHOUGH ILL. Despite his illness yesterday, Marconi insisted on working on his latest micro-wave experiments. The Marquis Luigi Solari, head of the Italian Marconi company, the inventor's biographer and life-long friend, said that late yesterday afternoon Marconi came into his office "to talk about his micro-wave experiments."

"Marconi told me he planned to spend the whole summer aboard his yacht Elettra conducting experiments," Solari said. His idea was to adapt the micro-wave to long range transmission.

Marconi's body will be removed to historic Farnesina Palace, headquarters of the Italian Royal Academy of which he was president, on the banks of the Tiber this afternoon to lie in state in the blue robes of an academician.

Following a preliminary funeral service in Rome, the body will be taken for burial to Bologna where he conducted his first experiments in a barn on his father's country estate.

Marconi apparently had been in good health for the last few days, although he had suffered serious illnesses in the last two years.

cent damaged. Size 220, he said, showed 14 per cent frost damage, including seven per cent over 40 per cent; 252's showed 38 per cent, 200's 19 per cent, and 344's 32 per cent. State law allows 15 per cent of samples to be 20 per cent damaged, or five per cent to be over 40 per cent damaged if they are to be passed for shipment. Otherwise the fruit must be reconditioned or sent to by-products plants.

The state's interest in the case was shown by the fact that Alberto Beiford, pretty brunette attorney from the attorney general's office, was seated at the counsel table taking copious notes. Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe was prosecuting, with S. K. Kaufman, former district attorney, and William P. Webb as attorneys for the growers and packing house officials who are defendants.

ORDERED BY BY-PRODUCTS. Byrd told the court that Jones first told him the fruit was bad and was to be sent to by-products plants. The next day, he said, Jones asked to put off reconditioning of the fruit one day, and on the following day refused to do anything with the fruit until he had consulted Miller.

Refuting Kaufman's argument last week on a demurrer that Hightower's notice to Jones to unpack the fruit was illegal, Byrd said the inspector asked:

"Alex, what do you want to do with this fruit?"

"There's nothing to do," he testified Jones replied, "but strip the papers off, take it out of the boxes and send it to by-products."

Thereupon, Byrd said, Hightower wrote "unpack and send to by-products" on the notice and handed it to Jones, who signed it.

Attorneys expected the case to last until tomorrow afternoon.

Oldest Inmate Of San Quentin Ends Sentence

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Frank Minematsu, San Quentin prison's oldest inmate in point of time served, died today.

The 56-year-old Japanese, who had been virtually a voluntary prisoner since 1924 when he refused to return to his native country on parole, died of a heart ailment.

Minematsu entered San Quentin 26 years ago under life sentence for killing another Japanese in Los Angeles county. He had worked as a gardener during most of the time.

Prison authorities said a Buddhist organization in Oakland had sent word it would claim the body.

Double Trouble Hits Twins As Husbands Seek Divorce

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Marital difficulties have continued their simultaneous visitation to Lois and Louise Coats, identical twins.

The twin brothers to whom they were married last Dec. 20, in Marian, Ark., filed suits for annulment against them. The plaintiffs, Hubert O. and Herbert M.

Sharp, charged their brides had not received final divorce decrees from their previous husbands, Roy and Ray Sebring, also twins.

The Coats twins were divorced last October from the Sebrings. Lois was subsequently married to Hubert Sharp, Louise to Herbert.

ACROBATIC COMMUNIST GIVES COPENHAGEN COPS JITTERS

COPENHAGEN. (AP)—An acrobatic Communist left Copenhagen's police dizzy today when he climbed the 315-foot tower of the city hall and hoisted a long, blood-red Communist flag.

Hours later the flag was still flying, and the Communist doing dangerous stunts on his high perch for gaping crowds in the streets far below. Police, unwilling to attempt the dangerous climb, shouted up orders to him from the top window of the tower to come down.

"Come up and get me," he taunted.

The climber finally descended and was arrested. To their chagrin the police discovered their taunter was lame.

To add to their worries, no sooner was acrobat No. 1 down than acrobat No. 2 started up. The human fly clambered up the tower from the outside.

Halfway to the top, he stopped and lighten his pipe and then, carelessly, knocked the glowing ashes down on the heads of the police below.

STATE VICTOR IN TAX FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The ninth United States circuit court of appeals has upheld a lower court decision giving the State of California priority on its $200,000 gasoline tax claim against the Hercules Gasoline company, Ltd., of Los Angeles, a bankrupt concern.

The appeal from the federal district court at Los Angeles was brought by George M. Follet and William Ryder, holders of liens against the defunct company's real estate.

TRAXLER GETS WIFE, FLEES

VERDEN, Okla. (AP)—Roy (Pete) Traxler, fugitive Oklahoma outlaw and two men who fled with him from a Texas prison farm drove boldly into Verden at dawn today, picked up Mrs. Traxler and some heavy luggage and fled in her car while officers and acquaintances looked on.

Sheriff Jim Bond said federal bureau of investigation agents, members of the state highway patrol and county sheriff's officers were concentrating in the Verden area for an intensive manhunt.

Constable Fred Dorris of Verden spread an alarm after he said he saw Traxler and companions meet Nell Traxler, Traxler's wife, then go to a nearby filling station for gasoline.

Hold Pair in Garland Death

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Kay Tutwiler and Luther Allen, movie extra players, were held in jail today, pending an inquest tomorrow in the death of May Garland, former deputy city attorney, here last Saturday.

Dr. A. F. Wagner, county autopsy surgeon, reported his belief that Mrs. Garland died of acute alcoholism and that bruises found on her body, although a contributory cause, were not sufficient in themselves to have caused her death.

English City May Drop Street Cars

MANCHESTER, Eng.—(American Wire)—Should the Manchester corporation adopt the report of its transport manager, R. Stuart Pilcher, street cars will disappear entirely from the streets of Manchester in a few years.

Pilcher says that busses cost less to operate than trams, that in Manchester their revenue-earning powers are higher.

UNIONS SET 10,000 GOAL

means that twice as many workers joined unions in the last four months than belonged to unions altogether at any time before!

"Memberships," Secretary Trendle said, "are coming in so fast it is difficult to keep track of them. We have so many requests to organize various groups of workers that we cannot keep up with them. In fact, we have 10 such groups now on the waiting list. We could use 20 organizers here and keep them busy."

TEN NEW ORGANIZATIONS. Ten different unions have been organized in the past four months. These include the butchers, teamsters and truck drivers, citrus workers, sugar beet workers, flat glass workers, clerks, agricultural workers, machinists, roofers and fire fighters.

There now are 22 unions in the county and soon there will be many more. Unions organized prior to the boom which started four months ago are the musicians, barbers, carpenters, electricians, motion picture operators, pressmen, typographical workers, the hod carriers, building and common laborers' union, plasterers, painters, tile layers and plumbers.

A. F. OF L. HOLDS LEAD. So far the A. F. of L. here has been able to ward off the threat of C. I. O. organization in this county. C. I. O. organizers have attempted to cut in on the citrus workers union, and still are trying, it was stated.

Even now there is a battle on between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O., which has established an office in the Commercial National bank building, as to which group will organize laundry workers of the county. Organization of culinary workers also is under way at the present time.

In predicting that there will be 10,000 union members in the county within six months, labor leaders said they were being conservative in their estimate. They pointed out that there is a possible membership of around 2000 in the clerks' union alone.

WOMAN CLERKS ORGANIZE. The retail clerks, their organization begun here less than three months ago, today reported 225 members already in the union, with 32 admitted during the past week, plus 76 who have applied.

Women clerks are meeting for organization a week from tonight at 8 p. m. in the Labor temple. The meeting will be open, President Harry Burman of the clerks said, and a prominent speaker is expected to attend.

"We're out to catch up with the teamsters," said Burman. The teamsters report more than 500 members.

OKEH BUDGET OF $709,288 IN 10 SECONDS

Council Favors Boost Of 9 Cents in Tax Rate

City councilmen last night adopted a $709,288 budget for the ensuing fiscal year. And they did it in 10 seconds flat!

But there was no need for prolonged discussion. Terms of the annual budget had been worked out over a long period, and figures were announced by Mayor Fred C. Rowland last week.

The budget is $39,000 higher than in 1936-37. The major item of increase was in a blanket increase of 10 per cent in salaries of all city employees.

Tax rate based on the budget will be $1.49, which is an increase of nine cents over last year. However, the total rate, including the 10 cents to aid to delinquent assessment bonds, makes the total rate $1.59 as compared with $1.50 for the past year.

Other items of increase beside the salaries were in capital outlay, aid to relief projects and in the purchase of materials and supplies, which in the latter case is due to the increase in the purchase price of materials.

SAFE CRACKERS GET $30 HAUL

A second safe cracking job in the county within a week's time last night resulted in a $30 loss to the Olive Hills Packing House in Olive.

Evidence of the same expertness in prying off the safe lock that was used in the Costa Mesa water company safe cracking burglary a few days ago led Deputy Sheriff Lutes and Workman, who are investigating the case, to believe that the same thugs may be responsible for both thefts.

No fingerprints or other clues were left in the packing house office. Entrance probably was made through an unlocked window, the deputies reported.

Drivers Fined on Multiple Counts

Three multiple offense cases featured the traffic violation calendar in police court yesterday.

Pleading guilty to speeding, running past a boulevard stop sign, and failing to appear, William Jones, jr., 1322 West Fourth street, was fined $10.

John Ornelas, 217 South Franklin street, paid a $5 fine for driving with four in the front seat, passing a boulevard stop sign, and failing to appear.

Speeding and failure to appear brought a $15 fine to Arthur D. Dawson, 5640 Santa Monica boulevard, Los Angeles.

Four fined for speeding were: Roy L. Hopkins, 133 North Monterey street, Ontario, $10; John D. Ardaiz, Route 2, Anaheim, $5; Charles J. Johnson, 514 1/2 North Main street, Los Angeles, $8; and Adrain Tillatson, 1129 Montrose avenue, South Pasadena, $10.

H. Carter, 1122 Kelson drive, and Kenneth Van Slyck paid $1 each for overtime parking.

Ernest Nicholas, Box 46, El Toro, was fined $2 for failure to make a boulevard stop.

Pastor Returning From Boys Camp

The Rev. L. D. Meggers, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene here, will return tomorrow from Camp La Verne at Seven Oaks, where he has been a camp leader for the past two weeks.

Senior boys of the Nazarene church conference have been enrolled there during the most recent period, among them being Martin Bottruff, Norman Drummond and Billy Dunham, who will return to Santa Ana with the Rev. Mr. Meggers.

Junior boys and girls of Santa Ana attending earlier sessions at the camp, at which Mrs. Meggers was also a leader, included Charles Hart, Sterling Gordon, Donald McMillan, Joyce Meggers and Mary Jean Bottruff.

Check Forgery Suspect Held

John A. Hubbell, whose sentence in San Quentin for grand theft was interrupted to face a charge of check forging in Santa Ana, today was held to answer to two forgery counts in justice of peace court. He will appear in superior court on Friday.

Hubbell is charged with giving forged checks in payment for goods bought at two Santa Ana stores.

FARM HEAD TO CONFER HERE

Arrangements for meetings between Orange county agricultural leaders and J. J. Deuell, director of the law and utilities department of the California Farm bureau, were completed today, according to R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Farm bureau here.

Thursday evening Deuell will confer with the directors of the citrus, walnut and avocado departments of the Farm bureau, and Friday evening with directors of sugar, bean and beet departments and officers of the bean warehouses and sugar factory.

Deuell will explain the present status of transportation tax laws and discuss the transportation rate cases which are scheduled to come before the railroad commission. "These problems are very important at this time," Flaherty said, "since trucking transportation costs in Orange county run into the millions annually."

LABOR HEADS NOMINATED

W. R. Pratt, teamster, or Steve Davidson, meat cutter, may head Orange county's organized labor for the ensuing year, succeeding Norris Stone, carpenter.

Pratt and Davidson were nominated for president at last night's meeting of the Orange county central labor council here. Further nominations will be accepted next week, when voting will take place. C. S. McCandless, tile setter, probably will also enter the race for president. He was nominated last night, too late, accidentally, and was listed as a nominee for vice president, and was also named as a nominee for financial secretary, so far unopposed.

Opposing McCandless for vice president is Harry Burman, president of the retail clerks.

Jack Trendle, present full-time secretary for labor organizations here, was nominated again as recording secretary. Harold Biser and C. S. Morton were nominated for sergeant-at-arms, and F. J. Lincoln was nominated for trustee to succeed H. M. Tedford, whose term expires this year.

Nominations for the executive board were R. C. Ewing, L. G. Jump, Burman, Ben Milligan, Verl Rosenow, Morton, Stone, Purl Barnes, and Elmer Gates.

Ouch! Ball Splits Morrison's Finger

Kenneth Morrison sat on his justice of the peace court bench today an injured judge with a baseball catcher's typical split finger. Judge Morrison was on the receiving end of the South Methodist team battery last evening when his nine was playing the Elks. An unusually fast one caught the end of one of his fingers. And the game was interrupted while he made a quick trip to a doctor.

COUPLE HELD IN BURGLARY

A Santa Ana man and wife, charged with burglarizing a Chinese home, today sit in the county jail awaiting a hearing while police prepare to present as evidence in their case stolen goods found in their home.

The pair are Clarence and Marion Rurup, 416 North Flower street. They stand accused of taking two watches and a quantity of Chinese matches and liquor from the home of Joe Young, 410 Pacific street.

Police officers found that entrance had been made by forcing a screen and using a pass key on the door.

C. E. Smith, 1431 West Fourth street, said that he had seen a woman enter the house and bring something back to a car in which a male companion was waiting. Smith took the number of the car.

A checkup revealed that the car belonged to the Rurups. Smith identified the couple as the ones he had seen entering the house.

When asked about the burglary, police said, both denied knowing anything about it. But when their

Schoolmarm Faces Bad Check Charge

Miss Nora Deu Pree, proprietress of an exclusive Dana Point girls' school, yesterday was arrested on a Santa Ana on a felony warrant charging issuance of a check with intent to defraud.

Brought to justice of the peace court, Miss Deu Pree was released on her own recognizance and told to appear for a preliminary hearing July 22. The girls' school owner is charged with issuing a check for $14.14 to Joe's grocery, Second street and Broadway, on April 24. The grocery store owner told police that the check had been returned to him marked "account closed." He had written to her several times about the matter, he said.

house was searched, the stolen goods were found tied in a handkerchief, police said.

Then, according to police reports, Mrs. Rurup admitted taking the watches but said that her husband had nothing to do with it.

Young swore out a complaint against the two, and they were jailed with bail set at $2500. Their preliminary hearing was set for July 28.

DRIVER JAILED AFTER 3 HURT

Three persons were injured, two seriously, in a sideswiping accident near Santa Ana involving a possible drunken driver, the office of the Highway patrol learned today.

The injured are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Gordon, 825 South Broadway, and Edward A. Lippe, Rancho Santa Ana, Anaheim. All three were taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Mrs. Gordon suffering from a fractured pelvis and cuts on the face, and Lippe for lacerations on the forehead and an injured shoulder. Gordon sustained severe bruises.

According to Gordon, he was driving toward Santa Ana on Bolsa Chico near Springdale street when a truck driven by Daisaku Yoshida, 2992 East Willow street, Long Beach, swerved across the highway and struck the front of his car, which was overturned.

Yoshida was arrested by highway patrolmen charged with drunken driving. The injured persons were taken to the hospital by the Orange county ambulance service.

Claims Husband Threatened Her With 'Publicity'

Charges that Edgar Elsner, Santa Ana oil salesman, became infuriated with "another woman" and threatened to plaster his wife's name all over Orange county were set forth today as Mrs. Geneva Elsner filed an answer and cross-complaint to his divorce suit in superior court.

Mrs. Elsner charged she was coerced into signing a property settlement by her husband's threats of publicity and said she did not desert him, but moved to her parents' home on Orange avenue at his suggestion.

In her cross complaint she asks that her husband's request for a divorce be denied, the property settlement set aside, an order for maintenance of herself and the two minor boys made, and a receiver appointed for Elsner's affairs, in addition to an injunction preventing him from going out of business or removing the children from their mother's care.

A Holstein-Friesian cow in a breeding herd of the federal bureau of dairy industry, produced twin calves, one of which was black and white; the other, red and white.

LOCAL YOUTH AIR VICTIM

W. Horace Ross, 21, formerly of Fullerton, was instantly killed in an airplane crash Sunday near Albuquerque, N. M., according to word received here by his mother, Mrs. Beulah Ross, who left immediately for Albuquerque.

Young Ross was piloting a plane which belonged to a club of young men interested in flying and was carrying at the time of the crash Harold Kimmel, 22, of Albuquerque, as a passenger. Kimmel was also killed in the crash which, according to reports occurred when the plane went into a dive about 100 feet from the ground.

The crash occurred about nine miles from Albuquerque at the foot of the Sandia mountains.

$100 TOOLS STOLEN

Theft of tools worth nearly $100 from John W. Crawford, Route 1, Box 209, Santa Ana, today is being investigated by the sheriff's office. Crawford, who said the tools were stolen Sunday night, described a suspect who had come to his house asking for food as a dark complexioned man about five feet 10 inches tall.

CITY AIDS COORDINATING COUNCIL IN ENTRY TO COMMUNITY CHEST

Santa Ana city council last night acted to help the coordinating council become part of the community chest effort this year.

A letter was received from J. A. Cranston, chairman of the Santa Ana Coordinating council, asking the council to endorse the entry of the coordinating council into the membership of the chest.

At the same time, the city council took no action on a request from Cranston that he be paid for his services as chairman of the coordinating council. In a letter to the council Cranston pointed out that he has been receiving no pay for his work and requested the council to remedy the situation.

At the request of Superior Judge H. G. Ames, Cranston organized the coordinating council about a year ago. Purpose of the council is to help pre-delinquent boys and girls. The organization operates a toy loan library here

GROWING PAINS

WOMEN PLAN 'IKE' CHAPTER

FULLERTON.—This city's active and aggressive Izaak Walton League chapter is facing some stiff competition.

John Gregory, leader of Waltonians for the Fullerton area, announced today that a "Lady Ike" organization is being formed, and will be the first in the United States.

In no way an auxiliary to the local chapter, the new group, to be composed entirely of women, will take an active part in the league's efforts to conserve wild life of the field, forest and ocean.

Twenty-seven women already have signed up to take part in the league activities, Gregory said today, and many more are expected to join within the next month, before a national charter is presented and officers are named.

The national male Waltonians are getting ready for some real competition in the field of game protection, Gregory said.

Townsend News, Views

By
WALTER R. ROBB

GENERAL WELFARE CLUB BACKGROUND

On the front page of The Journal last Saturday was carried the story of the formation of the first General Welfare organization club in Orange county promoted by those who are revolting against the national leadership of Dr. Francis E. Townsend. It is interesting to note that the organization made in Oakland on Saturday that the new General Welfare association group had received its charter to operate in California in connection with the parent organization known as the General Welfare Federation of the U. S. A. a Delaware corporation. According to the announcement, Avery C. Moore, Oakland, former special representative of Dr. Townsend is to be the acting president of the association.

In the United Press dispatch issued in Oakland on Saturday, which compose the new organization favor the General Welfare Act bill which is the Townsend bill "but refuse to work with Dr. Townsend because of his attacks on the President and his program." That sounds very much as if the tie-up with the Democratic party administration group. In this, the 19th district, the attitude of Representative Harry R. Sheppard in sending his letter of June 6th to the Townsend clubs quoting the General Welfare Steering Committee's resolution asking the Townsend clubs to turn from the leadership of the doctor and to change the name of their clubs to that of General Welfare clubs seems to indicate still more conclusively the Democratic party tie-up with the new organization.

FDR NOT SYMPATHETIC

Just what confidence the Townsends in general could have in expecting the present administration group to carry on the fight uncompromisingly for the enactment of H. R. 4199 in view of the administration's past attitude is not hard to figure out. There is reason to believe that President Roosevelt has not at any time been sympathetic toward the methods advocated by the Townsend plan principles. The whole history of the administration points to the fact that antagonism to the Townsend movement almost from its beginning has been one of hindrance instead of help.

When the methods of recovery sponsored by the administration are placed alongside those of the Townsend plan, it is easy to see why the administration would be opposed to the Townsend plan movement. The New Deal tendencies are toward centralization of power in the national executive through greatly increased bureaucratic control groups and making more or less the power of the citizenry capable of being heard only as it speaks through those groups with their activities dominated over by their leadership appointed by national executive decree. Even the spending power of funds raised by taxes imposed on the people and business is expected under the New Deal to be largely vested in the power of the President and his group of appointees to control.

PEOPLE LOSE POWER

Such a policy followed out naturally leads to centralization of power in Washington with a consequent diminution of power of the people to have voice in the policies of the government. Such a course followed to its logical conclusion would eventually result in an almost complete stifling of the privileges of representation now enjoyed by the people. The Townsend method of recovery is the opposite of that of the New Deal. It plans on placing the power of spending in the hands of the people instead of in the hands of bureaucrats. It proposes to make un-needed relief organizations permanent relief organizations by constantly increasing amounts occasioned by the interest burden of a mounting public debt and a continuance of a need of direct relief of great volume.

Senator to Seek N. Y. Mayor Job

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Senator Copeland (D-N.Y.) said today he definitely intended to be a candidate for mayor of New York on an Anti-New Deal platform. While reiterating his intention to run in the Democratic primary, Copeland said he would be willing to seek the Republican nomination at the same time if Republican leaders desired to nominate him.

"The question of the New Deal ought not to enter into a local campaign, but it has been put there by those who oppose me on the theory that I am Anti-New Deal," Copeland said.

Insurance Men To Hear Official

Samuel L. Carpenter, jr., state insurance commissioner, will address members of the Orange County Life Underwriters' association and the Insurance Exchange of Orange county at a joint meeting at noon tomorrow in the Green Cat cafe. Carpenter will conduct a question box period after the luncheon, it was announced by Mayor Fred Rowland, program chairman.

SEARCH PLAN FOR AMELIA IS DENIED

Navy Did Thorough Job, Flight Advisor Says

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — Paul Mantz, close friend of George Palmer Putnam and technical adviser to Amelia Earhart, today denied that Putnam is organizing a private search for Miss Earhart, whose plane vanished in the South Seas 17 days ago.

"Mr. Putnam has not even considered such a plan," Mantz said, speaking for the missing flier's husband, who was not available. "No one, even if he had $10,000,000 to spend, could do a more thorough job than has been done by the navy."

"A party in a private yacht could spend a lifetime and not cover more than a small percentage of the area that the battleship and its airplanes have covered in its very thorough search."

The Los Angeles Herald and Express quoted friends of Putnam as saying he would charter a large yacht and spend from six months to a year searching in the vicinity of Howland Island for Miss Earhart and her navigator, Capt. Frederick Noonan.

City Council Notes

The city council last night:

New York Stocks

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK (AP) — Buying forces were in the ascendant in today's stock market and motors, rails, utilities and specialties were given a brisk forward push.

While profit sellers cut down early gains of fractions to 3 or more points in many instances before the close, favorites held most of their morning improvement. Chrysler was the star performer of the day, jumping nearly 4 points at one time to cross 110 at a new high for the move. Santa Fe and Consolidated Edison carried the banners of their department.

Genial George Stewart, the O. C. A. C. matchmaker who also runs the Ontario battle-box, has one for the books.

His referee, Reggie Gilmore, was knocked colder than a cucumber in the inland ring the other night, when dusky George Hughes, Los Angeles heavyweight, accidentally floored the arbiter with a clean right hook to the button in the third heat with John Hanshen, Stewart's protegee.

Referee Gilmore stepped into a clinch to break Hughes and Hanshen, only to intercept a rifle right from the colored boy. He took a long count, but the refereeless battlers kept swinging, with Hughes winning the decision.

Orv Schuchardt, fleet flyhawk of the Huntington Beach Oilers who got his start with the Stars 10 years ago, has made two bets, and probably will win both.

First, the onetime Santa Ana has wagered a friend the Giants will finish ahead of the Cards in the National league.

Second, he has backed up talk with money that he will be hitting .388 or better at the end of the National Nightball league grind. Schuchardt is hovering around .390 at the present time.

Jimmie Heffron, silvery-haired sports authority of the Heim Bulletin, re-enters the hospital today for an operation on his eyes, injured last year in an automobile accident. Jim, who has fired hundreds and hundreds of "Sports Shots," may be able to return to his desk as early as next Monday.

Puzzle: How long can a man who has coached THREE Southern California championship eleven since '29, remain with an institution the size of Santa Ana Junior college? If Bill Cook, the ex-Trojan backfield and track star, turns the trick again this fall, football fans will have reason to fear losing the Dons' popular head man.

Crystal-balling tonight's round of National Nightball league attractions:

San Bernardino over Westminster at San Bernardino.

Huntington Beach over Orange at Huntington Beach.

We may be crawling too far out on a limb on that first one, but Anaheim thus far has been no consistent world-beater. (Voice from "ear": "Neither has Santa Ana.")

Only 42 days until the Southern California champion Dons' first football practice!

PORTLAND HIGHER NOW THAN WHEN BEAVERS WON TITLE

Portland's battling Beavers, 1936 Pacific Coast league champions and winners in 13 of their last 15 games, are in a better position today to win the title than they were a year ago.

After staggering along most of the season in sixth and seventh place the Beavers suddenly came to life as their pitchers improved. A year ago they were in fourth place with a percentage of .519. Today they are in fourth place with a percentage of .528.

The Beavers will face a real test this week in a split series with second place Sacramento and fifth place Los Angeles. San Diego, topping the league by half a game, meets a tottering Seattle team and

Games Wednesday Night
Carpenters vs. M. E. South
Montgomery Ward vs. Grand Central Market

By FRANK GUTHRIE

Harvey Hemphill, brilliant shortstop, was the hero of the Commercial National Bank today, after breaking up an over-time contest with the pesky Carpenters last night with a home run into the left field bleachers for a 4-3 victory. Harold Youel's Bankers took sole possession of the Santa Ana City softball lead.

M. E. South's big bats, which had pounded out two straight victories up to last night, were muffled, 6-4, by Ed Cox and the Elks, although the winners, had to stage a last-inning defensive before a diving church who had hanging the Mustangs placed three men on the pathways and threatened to knot the count.

WHITE RAPS HOMER

Three of the money changers' four runs were scored on home runs, with "White" rapping the four-bagger deadeckling the game in the fifth.

With the count three and two on Russell Gundersen, first man up in the Bank's half of the first inning, Wilmer Swafford served up a home run and with that hanging the Mustangs placed three men on the pathways and threatened to knot the count.

Erwin Youel's homer, the shortstop was first up in the crucial inning, with the ball going into the bleachers after a hop from inside the playing field. Following Conaway's thirdinning homer, Bob Wimbush doubled and scored on Erwin Youel's two-bagger.

The Carpenters showed that they were real "money players" in the sixth inning when with three aboard and two out Gundersen fled to left field. He was followed by Ed Cox, who whiffed, Youel first up, singled sharply into left field. Then successive blows by Hemphill and Ojeda filled the bags with but one out. Swafford forced Pitcher Stout to fly to second with no attempt being made on Youel's part to catch him. Gundersen then Swafford came out of the hole with flying colors until the eighth-inning homer.

HIT HARD IN FIRST

The Elks got all except two of their tallies in the initial game by pounding out five hits before Horace Rittner found the range. Roger Dominguez, who collected three hits for four, led off with a triple on the left field foul-line, later scoring on Darwin Scott's single to center. Sievert fanned, but was followed by Fred Cartwright's and Ray Short's successive doubles which brought in two more tallies. "Mickey" Walker's single revamped Oakland squad. Third place San Francisco Seals who lost seven out of eight to the Beavers last week, meet Los Angeles and Sacramento.

The Missions play Oakland and Seattle.

A year ago the league-leading Padres were in sixth place. Second place Sacramento was a cinch cellar bet and San Francisco held a comfortable berth in seventh place.

"Portland was hindered early in the season by in and out pitching and when Pete Concarart was out of play with a damaged hand. The Beavers, although tied with Seattle for last place in team hitting, have some dependable swatters who come through when bingles are needed.

Failure of John Wesley Gill and Ted Norbert to hit has hurt the Seals, now four and a half games behind.

Young Lou Tost was the only Mission pitcher able to beat the Padres last week. The Missions lost six out of seven which enabled the San Diego club to pick up a lot of ground a damaged hand. The Beavers, although tied with Seattle for last place in team hitting, have some dependable swatters who come through when bingles are needed.

There were no games yesterday, teams traveling.

CHICAGO HOLDS $10,000 OPEN

Harry Cooper Leads Golf Field of 402

CHICAGO. (AP)—A field of 402 players—218 professionals and 184 amateurs—was entered today in the $10,000 Chicago Open golf tournament to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Medinah Country club.

Two courses will be used. Eighteen holes will be played Friday and another 18 Saturday for qualifying, half of the field will meet out in center field. Two were out in the third when Earl Conaway blasted another one, this time over the head of Layton who failed to retrieve the pill until the runner had rounded third and headed for the plate.

Erwin Youel's homer, the shortstop was first up in the crucial inning, with the ball going into the bleachers after a hop from inside the playing field. Following Conaway's thirdinning homer, Bob Wimbush doubled and scored on Erwin Youel's two-bagger.

PITTSBURGH.—Johnny Romero, Mexico, outpointed Jimmy Clark, Jamestown, N. Y. (10); Marks, unavailable.

Three years ago—Jimmy Fox hit his 29th homer of the season and went into the American league lead for four baggers.

In the fourth, Walker got his second consecutive hit and countered on Willis Wood's double. Dominguez's third hit brought in the final marker.

Ed Cox whiffed nine batters in the wild melee, while Rittner and Roussos sent down six. Stout found the Carpenters a tough lot for strike-outs, garnering but five while Swafford fanned three.

LOPEZ SCORES ON 'FLUKE'

Lutze Pins Mexican Rival, But Referee Fails to See Fall

By PAUL WRIGHT

Lifeguard Nick Lopez had lots of luck at the Highway 101 hall of horrors last night—most of it bad. Strangely enough, the California champion, Vincent Lopez, should have thanked Referee Joe Vargas for a three-fall victory, because it was Referee Joe Vargas who really defeated Nick the Lutze.

It all happened this way: Lopez pinned Lutze in a torrid battle of body slams that lasted 19 min. 51 secs. The Mexican idol's advantage, however, vanished with dramatic suddenness when Lutze unleashed a painful right uppercut which floored Lopez in 12 secs!

The principals plunged into the third and deciding fall ever. Stephen Lutze, a howling mob cheering mainly for Lutze. They soon entangled themselves like a couple of trees struck by a cyclone. And what was all the more exciting, the prancing referee became caught in the mix-up, and like a spider in the historic web, couldn't free himself.

During the height of the unusual, Lutze nailed Lopez's shoulders to the mat, and the customers counted twice the required time-limit. Umpire Vargas, still trying to pry himself loose, stepped in and had another chance in the heavyweight mat-ador. But in all the scrambling to free himself he missed the very thing he's in the ring for—to count a wrestler out when his shoulders are pinned.

Lutze, who had another chance, Lopez went on to pin him in 12:07 with a body press.

The other bouts were mild compared to the "main" event. Scarlet Mr. X, the mysterious one, body-pressed his way to victory over Al Balfour in 16:03. Leo N. in a Louie Baccagalup match resulted in a furious 30-minute draw, after the heavies had tumbled into ringside twice and fought off the fans. Indian Jules Strongbow, 292-pound ox from Oklahoma, lost to Ignacio Martinez in 22 min. 42 secs. on a foul.

ALLISON NEEDS NET STAMINA

BROOKLIN, Mass. (AP)—Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., admitted nearing the end of his long career, thinking "lack of stamina" has kept him from the ranks of the world's greatest tennis players. Allison begins play today in the forty-fifth Longwood tennis tournament after advancing on a first round default yesterday.

Now losing sets to players he would have brushed aside in his heyday, Allison, who has won every major tennis honor except Wimbledon, said wistfully: "I've wanted out of tennis. I've had the strokes and the will to win, but I guess the things I lacked most were championship stamina and a better tennis physique."

"Of course, I've always kept myself in top condition, and even today, I'd say my stamina was probably in the best shape of my life."

THE BAT BAG

Darwin Scott gave the fans a laugh in the fourth when he spilled at the plate trying to field Jim Hughes' bounding punt.

Roger Dominguez's first inning triple landed in the left field foul line and in the second game Roy Stout's hit failed by inches to get inside the boundary.

Paresi Roussos's changing pace for M. E. South even had Umpire John Lutz bewildered at times last night.

Friday night Montgomery

Ward's first-half champions receive a second crack at the leading Bankers. The Elks also get a chance to stay in the running when they collide with the Grand Central Market nine.

Because of the change of the second-half schedule, teams playing last night also will meet next Monday under the arcs. So far to reach the Elks and M. E. South contestants.

Harold Youel, Roger Dominguez and LeRoy Levens each batted three for four last night.

Here would be a good representative all-star team on the basis of second-half performances thus far: Pitcher—Roy Stout; catcher—Bill Collins; first-base—Fred Cartwright; second base—LeRoy Levens; third-base—Maurice Young; short stop—"Puck" White; left field—Roger Dominguez; center field—Earl Conaway; right field—Rod Smiley.

Rushton to Rushton To Rushton Makes Scorekeeper Dizzy

HUNTER, Utah. (AP)—When the Hunter baseball team takes the field, it's "Rushton to Rushton to Rushton"—no matter where the ball is hit.

Because the team includes the Rushton brothers, Sam, pitcher; Chris, pitcher or catcher; Syl, first baseman, and Ed, outfielder, and their cousins—all Rushtons—Owen, second base; Clyde, shortstop; Lawrence, third base; Warren, outfield, and Parley, outfield. A complete family nine.

The roster also includes Randy Moesser, Levi Evans, Claude Coen and George Feulner. The Rushton team—at least seven of 'em play in every game—won 12 of its first 13 games in the Victory Independent league, and captured three of its first four contests in the Farm Bureau circuit.

Tustin at Brea.

Fullerton at Irvine.

Holly Sugar at San Juan Capistrano.

Fullerton stretched its consecutive winning streak to four straight last night at the expense of Holly Sugar, 10-9, raising themselves above the .500 standard for the first time this season in the County Nightball league.

Irvine continued to pace the league with an 8-3 thumping of Tustin's club, but it had to put on a five-run spurt in the final frame to break a free-all deadlock and decide the off-and-on neighbors.

Manager Virgil Kiger's Brea nine finally hit the winning trail after three straight losses, by taking an expected 20-0 victory over the last-place Yorba Linda outfit, but it was a jugged lineup which brought them out of their hitting slump.

Frank Shaw's Sugar nine had things very much its own way for five frames with Henry Martinez against the coming Fullertonites, but they gambled on the pitching of Armand (Lefty) Hanson who had just been signed after playing for several months in the Santa Ana City league. Hanson was immediately shelved and before he was replaced by Frank (Smiley) Martinez six runs had crossed the plate and three runs were still parading on the pathways as Fullerton pulled up, 7-7.

In Irvine's big ninth-inning rally, Ahern and George Padias started it off with bingles followed by a walk to Staples. A line drive by Horace Sears was missed by Shortstop Reyes, sending all three runners across the plate. Then "Chub" Sears sent a booming home run into deep center field, scoring his brother and completing the rout.

Ray Dominguez was put on first base and batted third for Brea against Yorba Linda, coming through with three hits and six runs. He had a home run and two doubles for a perfect night, and Brazil Loumagne put out a four-base blow and a triple.

ING CHRISTIAN II of Denmark, who had been crowned King of Sweden in 1517, intent upon becoming ruler of that country. Against him fought a valiant army under the direction of the Swedish States-General, and the Danish Christian II, called for terms of peace at a meeting with members of the Senate. Once on board his ship, however, the Swedes were imprisoned among these prisoners was young Gustavus Ericsson. Gustavus escaped in 1520, and returned to Sweden. In fear of his life he scorned his countrymen and sought refuge in the foreign country, seeking food and shelter, and at the same time raising recruits for rebellion.

NORTH BROADWAY REPAVING BIDS ASKED

AUTO PARKING
HERE SOLVED?
WELL, MAYBENot Enough Details On
Plan to Suit Council

At last! Santa Ana's complex and controversial parking problem is solved.

That is, if the Tidewater Manufacturing company of Jacksonville, Fla., knows what it's talking about. And if officials of the company can explain how the mysterious system works.

Yesterday afternoon Mayor Fred C. Rowland read a letter to the city council from the company, which said:

"Of course your parking problem is serious." The councilmen agreed. Then the letter, addressed to the mayor, added: "If you could solve it, you would be the most popular official Santa Ana has ever known." And the mayor agreed to that.

The answer, the company said, is simple. It lies in the use of the Free-Parking regulator—whatever that is. It's radically different, the letter declared. And councilmen still agreed, because the communication said that no one is taxed, yet the devices pay for themselves and give revenue to the city.

The Free-Parking regulator is a new type of timing device that keeps cars moving in and out of stalls, the letter said. Motorists don't have to pay to park their cars at the curb.

But the company didn't get down to business and tell how this Utopian parking scheme works. Officials said that they were soliciting inquiries, but are not ready to supply the city with these regulators.

In the meantime, the parking meter problem still seemed to be up in the air. After being urged to install the meters by some and urged not to by others, the council referred the problem to itself and left the matter dangling in thin air.

UNIONS BACK FLOOD BONDS

Union labor in Orange county was behind the flood control bonds 100 per cent today, following unanimous adoption of an executive committee report by the central labor council last night.

"I don't think any union man or woman can afford not to vote for the bonds," said President Norris Stone of the council, "because for an investment of $2,500,000 we get $13,000,000 in benefits."

The resolution, reported from committee by Cal Ewing and introduced by Harry Burman, was adopted unanimously.

Classy New Trash
Truck Coming Soon

A classy new trash truck soon will be rolling down the alleys and streets of Santa Ana.

Last night the city council bought a new international truck from the Elliste company, which submitted a low bid of $1097.50. Two other bids were submitted, one from the Reo company for $1388.75 and one from the G.M.C. company for $1260.23.

The city will trade in an old trash truck, according to City Purchasing Agent Lloyd Banks.

'Humph' Snorts Pilot, 83, At Harbor Board Idea

By JOHN MCCLELLAND
So now they're going to appoint a commission to run Newport harbor!

"Humph!" snorts white-thatched Jim McMillan, himself a resident of Newport for a small matter of 62 years.

A commission!

To Jim's 83-year-old mind that idea is as silly as the notion some shipping masters used to have that he wasn't old enough to be an able bodied seaman when he was 17.

It may sound good to the board of supervisors who have just been cut a new slice of power giving them the right to form such a commission. But to Jim it's just plain silly.

NO YACHTS THEN
And no wonder. For Jim's idea of the harbor is one that goes deep into the past—back past the days when the basin became infested with scurrying yachts and fishing boats that need to be governed by harbor regulations. Back to the years of the lusty eighties when it sometimes took a sharp-eyed and strong-backed pilot two days to bring a wallowing steam schooner through the treacherous sand bars to the safety of the inner dock.

Jim was that sharp-eyed pilot—the only one in fact. From 1877 to the day they built a dock on the "outside," he was the most important man around the harbor. Without him at the helm, few craft dared to run across the bar. Some tried it, and were sorry.

BEGAN EARLY
Jim just sort of eased into his career as a pilot, he says. He'd followed the sea since he was big enough to pull an oar.

His seamanship he learned in the waters of Scotland. Only he denies he learned it. "Seamanship is just something you absorb," is Jim's way of putting it.

Born in Campbelltown, Argyleshire, Scotland, the Newport pioneer left his British Isle home for good in 1871 and took a berth on the windjammer that sailed him half around the world to China. In one port, the young sailor was working a windlass when the brake lever slipped and cracked him on the skull with the force of a falling boom. That put him in sick-bay for many a month. "I still sometimes feel the effect of it," he says.

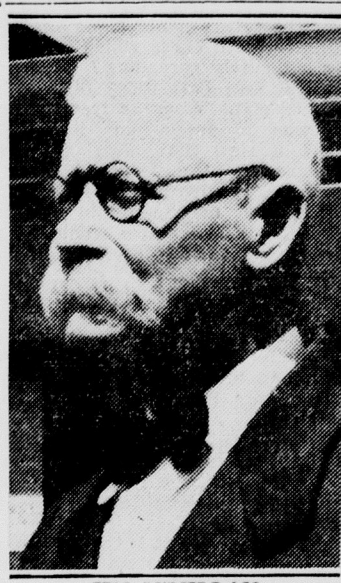

COMES TO NEWPORT
After some years in the China coastal trade, he was urged to move again. And did. Farther around the globe to the California shore, where, after more coasting, he put into Newport harbor for good.

"The steamer 'Newport' was the only vessel that called regularly at the harbor in those days. The day before it was scheduled to arrive, Jim would go out in his dory and take soundings. He had to make out a new channel each time, for the shifting sands made a permanent passageway impossible.

NO CRACK-UPS
Then when the ship was sighted, he would row out in his boat to the ship waiting outside the breakers, clamber up the side and lean his 210 pound weight on under Jim's guidance.

Between ships he ran the warehouse, owned by the McFadden's and delivered freight with big six and eight horse teams.

The year 1880 brought romance into the life of Jim McMillan. Marion, whom Jim had met and loved as a boy in the Highlands, decided to join him in his new world home. She came from Scotland to New York, then traveled across the continent alone to marry her pilot fiancé. That was 57 years ago. And Marion is still with Jim on his ranch out on Huntington Beach boulevard. Despite the fact that the pilot turned to ranching so long ago, there still is something of the sailor about him. The robustness of the sailing days have clung to him just as the brogue of the Highlands has clung to his tongue.

He's not through living by any means. His active life would put many a younger man to shame. And he's not so wrapped up in the past he can't pooh pooh the harbor commission idea.

MRS. FITSCHEN
LEAVES $77,187

Mrs. Anna Fitschen, who died in Orange last Feb. 16, left an estate valued at $77,187.19, according to the report of State Inheritance Tax Appraiser James E. Utt, filed at the county clerk's office today.

The report listed real estate in two parcels in the Rancho Santiago de Santa Ana worth $42,500, in addition to notes, stocks, cash, and personal property.

NEW LAW HITS
STATIC MAKERS

People who operate electrical devices which interfere with radio reception will have to watch their step from now on.

Last night the city council gave final reading to a new ordinance regulating devices that cause interference with radio reception.

War, Peace Topics
At Summer Forum

Problems of war and peace will occupy attention tonight at the summer forum of the Unitarian church, with the Emergency Peace foundation team leading discussion.

A world-wide survey of "sore spots," the Oriental and Spanish situations, and America's problem in staying out of the conflicts will be considered, with questions and discussion from the audience following.

McAdoo Will Help
City Keep Interest

Senator William Gibbs McAdoo will help Santa Ana to retain interest on public funds deposited in banks.

He said so in a letter received yesterday afternoon by Mayor Fred C. Rowland. The letter from the senator came in response to one written by the mayor, asking him to support H. R. 7186, which will enable cities to keep on receiving interest.

It would mean a loss of about $1000 a year to this city should interest be denied the city, as will happen next month unless the national law is passed, City Auditor Lloyd Banks said.

Store Patrol
Permit Given

Application of Ray Wagner, 609 Eastwood, for permission to work as a merchant policeman in this city was granted last night by the city council. Wagner will be employed by Gilbert Wagner, who operates a patrol service.

The council also approved a request for appointment of R. A. Dilkey for appointment as a special policeman to work as a crossing guard.

EXPERT ZONER
SOUGHT FOR
SANTA ANARealty Board Wants
Tangle Ironed Out

Santa Ana's planning commission spent a busy evening last night, dishing up a large number of matters for action by the city council.

One of the zoning problems was delayed because of a resolution forwarded to the city council by the Santa Ana Realty Board, which urged the trustees to employ an expert planner. The city has been discussing this matter of some time.

The Realty Board asked the council not to act on any spot zoning until the planner is employed. Rapid growth of the city and advance in real wealth were cited as reasons for the necessity of employing an expert planner. The city has been discussing this matter of some time.

HOLD APPLICATION
The application held up was from the E. B. Moritz Foundry, which made request to establish a foundry and machine shop near Main and Central streets. This would require rezoning for heavy industry. Action was postponed until the next council meeting.

Application of Floyd B. Smith to establish a drive-in cafe on the southwest corner of First and Shelton streets was approved on recommendation of the planning body. The property will be rezoned from single family residence to neighborhood business.

The council set Aug. 2 as the date for a public hearing on the application of M. P. Cumberworth to build a duplex at 1011 North Flower street. The same date was set for a hearing on application of E. C. Bell to build a four-apartment dwelling at Bush and Fourteenth street.

SET PUBLIC HEARING
Aug. 2 also was set as the time for a public hearing on application of H. E. Martin to rezone lot 12, Morris Villa Acres tract for construction of a duplex dwelling. Request for approval of an application from Charles Mosher to sell auto trailers at 2005 South Main street was granted last night by the council after a public hearing was held and no objections were voiced.

Band Concert
At Birch Park

Another of the open-air concerts by the band unit of the federal music project will be given Wednesday at 8 p. m. at Birch Park, with Edward Klein conducting. The program will feature a number of classical and popular numbers, the well known selection "Northern Rhapsody," by Hosmer—a free treatment of motives and melodies, dear to the people of this section of the country from which the band will march. "Washington Grays," by Graffula, the concert will continue with "Gems from Balfe's Opera," "The Bohemian Girl," closing the first half of the program with "Yankee Rhythm," by Lake, and "Foras de Melancolia," a Mexican dance arranged by Meyrelles.

Following a brief intermission, "In Poppyland," by Albers, will be presented, preceding the above-mentioned features. The "Dance of the Serpents," by Boccalari, will follow with the program concluding with "The Star Spangled Banner."

Fenders Damaged
In 3 Crashes

Fenders crumpled at regular intervals on Santa Ana streets yesterday and sent to the senate to one another in three minor collisions.

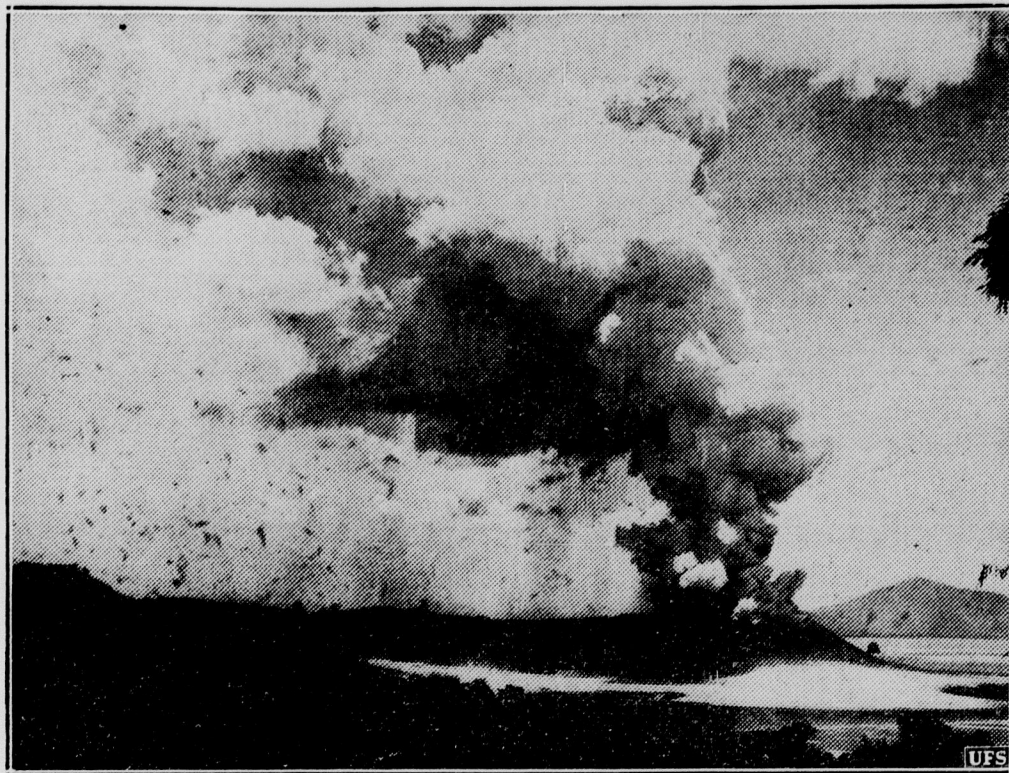

No. 1—Mrs. Charles Schmidt, 1311 South Main street, collided with a car driven by John Negrete, 910 Logan street, Costa Blanca at Orange and McFadden street.

No. 2—Miss Caro A. Cogan, Tustin, driving east on First street, ran into the rear of a quickly stopping truck driven by Martin M. Hansen, 2111 Rousseau street.

No. 3—Angie La Gakis, 420 North Parton street, made a left turn into Fifth at Main street and collided with a parked sedan owned by Mrs. Arthur Reed, 116 South Orange street, Rialto. Only fenders were damaged in all three mishaps.

AID HOMESTEADERS
WASHINGTON—The house approved and sent to the senate to a bill to exempt homesteaders who find it necessary to leave their homesteads this year to seek employment, from homestead law requirements as to residence, cultivation, improvements, expenditures and payments.

South Sea Volcano Spreads Death

Spreading destruction and death to hundreds, as molten lava flowed down its sides, here is one of the two volcanoes in eruption near Rabaul, Island of New Britain, northeast of Australia. Most of the population of Rabaul fled, but it was believed 250 were trapped. The American freighter Golden Bear rescued about 750. Note how the top of the mountain has been blown off, while the air is filled with ashes, mud and white-hot rocks.

POST WRITES
UP S. A. ELKS

While Santa Ana Elks did not make the first page of the Denver Post, mention of their activities appeared on other pages of that enterprising newspaper which featured activities of visiting Antlers.

Commenting on the glee club contest The Post says:

"In the national glee clubs contest the Santa Ana, Calif., double quartet and the famous 'Chanters of 99,' representing the Los Angeles Elks lodge, tied for first honors. The judges, however, agreed to give first money to the Santa Ana double quartet."

Because the two leading competing glee clubs differ materially in size, the judges ruled that the awards would have no bearing on the national standing of the two organizations, and that the awards would not be counted in future national scoring."

And then it remained for "Sully" Sullivan to ask "why," and he got his answer from the policeman, thusly:

"Where's the old Welcome Arch?" asked E. S. Sullivan of Santa Ana, Calif., who arrived here Monday morning for the Elks convention. It was a sort of California morning at the Union station, but so far as is known, Sullivan was the only one of the California delegation who asked that particular question. A policeman explained that the arch was taken down several years ago when Seventeenth street was widened at that point. Sullivan, who has not been here for a long time, seemed pretty disappointed.

Chester Dale
Suffers Stroke

A paralytic stroke struck down a prominent Santa Ana man yesterday afternoon. He is Chester I. Dale, general chairman of the California Assembly of Democrats of Orange county, and well known insurance executive.

Dale was standing at the counter in his office at 620 North Main street when the stroke hit him at 3:15 p. m. yesterday. He was rushed to his home at 1003 Spurgeon street.

Today it was reported that while he spent a fairly good night last night, his right arm is paralyzed and his right leg partially paralyzed.

Dale also was a member of the Santa Ana committee in charge of promoting favorable interest in the water bond election set for next Tuesday.

Kiwanis Family
Picnic Tonight

Kiwanians and their families will picnic tonight at Irvine park. The program, under direction of Loren Moore, includes a ball game at 4:30, pit barbecue dinner at 6:30, games and dancing.

Dr. Cassius Paul will direct the fun program with Lyle Mitchell and Lyle Miller managing the baseball game. Participants will attend Walker's theater after the park program.

AIR WEAPONS STOLEN
Otto Hawley, 514 South Broadway, yesterday reported to police that an air pistol and air rifle had been stolen from his sporting goods store window sometime last Saturday. Another theft complaint came from R. W. McKnight, 1414 Bush street, who said that a 50-foot length of garden hose had been taken from his front lawn.

NEWARK, N. J.—Police Sergeant Edward F. Tucker, off duty, strolled out of a restaurant and saw a young man trying to start a car.

"What's the matter, Bud?" he asked.

"Can't get it started."

"The ignition key is not in the lock," said the sergeant, politely. "I haven't got it," said the young man.

"I have," said Tucker. "It's my car."

So to jail.

"AT LONG LAST"
WOODLAWN, Ill.—Louis George Coombs is eligible for a new career in office-holding.

Coombs, a former county official, recently found he was not a U. S. citizen because his foreign-born father had never been naturalized.

Coombs took steps to fix that. Full citizenship was granted him on his 90th birthday.

Fifteen minutes later he had a strike. Up came all 15 bass, still neatly strung.

Seek Bids for
M. W. D. Aqueduct

Protection of 13 Southern California cities against the menace of drought is scheduled to draw another step nearer today when F. E. Weymouth, general manager of the Metropolitan water district, calls for bids on the construction of 18 additional miles in the Metropolitan aqueduct distributing system.

Connecting to the distribution "upper feeders," now under construction from the Cajalco reservoir to Glendale, at a point in Eagle Rock Canyon, the new work will constitute the western "cross-feeder" of the system. Bids will be opened on Sept. 1, 1937, on the first 18 miles of this lateral which will serve the cities of Los Angeles, Torrance, Compton, and Long Beach, part of the 13 cities that comprise the Metropolitan water district.

Labor Day Picnic
To Hear McDonald

Frank McDonald, president of the state building trades council, San Francisco labor leader and member of the state industrial accident commission, will speak here at a mammoth Labor day picnic Sept. 6.

Cal Ewing of Anaheim reported McDonald's acceptance of his invitation last night before the central labor council. Several thousand persons are expected to attend the festivities, to be staged in Irvine park. F. J. Lincoln is chairman of the Labor day committee.

PLAN $40,000
PROGRAM FOR
IMPROVEMENTFunds Will Come From Gasoline Tax Return

Motorists who have cursed the bumps on North Broadway were happy today in the knowledge that the city council has acted to repave a considerable portion of the important thoroughfare.

First direct action to launch work on the improvement program, which will cost around $40,000, was taken by the city council last night.

A resolution was adopted, setting forth plans and specifications, and calling for bids on the project. The invitation to submit bids will be published, and the bids will be opened at the council meeting Aug. 2.

North Broadway from First to Tenth street will be resurfaced and repaved, according to City Engineer J. L. McBride. Funds for the improvement will come out of the second allocation of the quarter-cent gas tax returned to the city by the state. The program has been approved by the state department of public works, and was included by the council in street improvement plans for the year.

The resolution adopted also included a provision setting the scale of pay for workers on the project at prevailing wages.

Work to be done in conjunction with the Broadway job includes repaving of a culvert at the northeast corner of Fourth and Sycamore streets.

Joint Tenancy
Action Filed

Asking superior court to determine whether she has power to transfer property from an estate to four persons in joint tenancy, Emily Eyle today filed suit against Mrs. Leona Ruth Holmwood, Norma Ruth Holmwood, Norman F. Holmwood, and Betty Jane Holmwood.

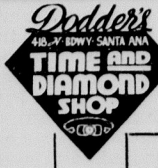

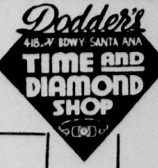

The plaintiff is administratrix of the estate of Matilda N. Spotts, and was empowered July 7 to sell three lots in Orange to the Holmwoods. She maintains, however, that she has no right to transfer the property to the four persons in joint tenancy, and asks for a court opinion on the matter. The defendants, according to court records, were to pay $1500 for the property.

Layton Says 'No'
To Mayor's Holiday

Mayor Fred Rowland cajoled members of the city council to approve his request for a 30-day leave of absence from the city at council meeting last night, but over the protest of Councilman Ernest H. Layton.

The mayor plans to leave in the near future for Portland, Ore., so requested permission to leave the state for 30 days, with a 15-day extension of time.

Members of the council, having a bit of fun, objected to the proposal. Councilman William Penn demanded a roll call vote, which resulted in a solitary "no" from Layton.

Laguna Rites Performed Sunday

Dorothy Arnold Weds Gareld Edwards in Church Ceremony

During early morning, candle-lit ceremonies Sunday in the St. Mary's Episcopal church of Laguna, Miss Dorothy Fern Arnold became the bride of Gareld R. Edwards. L-shope Barnes of the Episcopal church officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Oma Florence Arnold, 1302 South Van Ness street, wore a soft green tulle dress with brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Arnold, attired in a blue sheer dress with short jacket and white accessories, was her daughter's only attendant. She wore a corsage of lilies of the valley and gardenias.

The altar of the church was banked with flowers, with tall tapers as the only lighting. Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," "I Love You Truly," and "O Promise Me" were played on the organ during the rites.

Plans for a formal wedding breakfast and reception were abandoned at the last moment, as were more elaborate details of the wedding, because of a death in the family, but in the evening, immediate members of the young couple's families were guests of Mrs. Arnold at her home, 1302 South Van Ness street. Bowls of golden marigolds and blue canterbury bells, in the bride's favorite colors were used as decorations. Miss Maxine Morgan assisted the hostess in serving.

The new Mrs. Edwards is a supervisor at the local telephone company. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ray Edwards, 2072 South Birch street, and manages his own service station in Santa Ana.

They plan to leave for a honeymoon trip to San Francisco this week. When they return they will make their home in El Patio Real apartments, 1228 North Broadway, Apartment N.

NEW BRIDE IS HONORED AT GARDEN PARTY

Gay pieces of pottery and linen were showered upon one of Santa Ana's popular young brides this past weekend, when Mrs. Merton Butler (Tessie Childers) was guest of honor at a pleasantly informal little garden party.

The affair, held in the lovely garden of the W. Gardner home, was hosted by Mrs. William Cheverton of Whittier, daughter of the Gerrards, and Mrs. Carson Smith.

Hemming of tea-towels occupied the afternoon hours, with a dainty refreshment course served later, at which time Miss Peggy Smith was an able assistant. Miss Barbara Gerrard proved to be a delightful and efficient supervisor of games and fun for the children of the guests, who had also been invited.

Guests of the two hostesses were Mrs. George Kohlenberger and Mrs. Peggy, Mrs. A. C. Keck, Mrs. Alice Strong Caldwell of Honolulu, Mrs. Lynn Crawford and Leanne and Allen, Mrs. John Hays, Mrs. Ralph Raitt and Ralph Jr. and Tommy, Mrs. Harold Hill and Maxine, Mrs. Ben Danker, and Barbara, Willard, and Oratory. Mrs. Dorothy Kay Smith, Miss Gertrude Beckman, Bill and Arthur Cheverton, and Peggy, Bobby, and tiny Grace Ellen Smith.

GIRL'S BIRTHDAY IS INCENTIVE FOR PARTY

Miss Elizabeth Campbell's sixteenth birthday was the incentive for dinner and party last night for a group of her friends, with Mrs. J. D. Campbell as hostess in their home, West Third street, Tustin.

The table was decorated with pink candles and a low bowl of pink carnations. The honor guest opened her gift after the dinner. Guests at the birthday party were the Misses Margaret Coleman, Margaret Allen, Beth Francis, Rebecca Archer, Emily Bouchard, Barbara Gilbert, Mary Jane Dalley, Betty Sutherland, Betty Brooks, Dorothy Allen, and Anna Marie Grotty.

GROUP RETURNS FROM MEXICAN JOURNEY

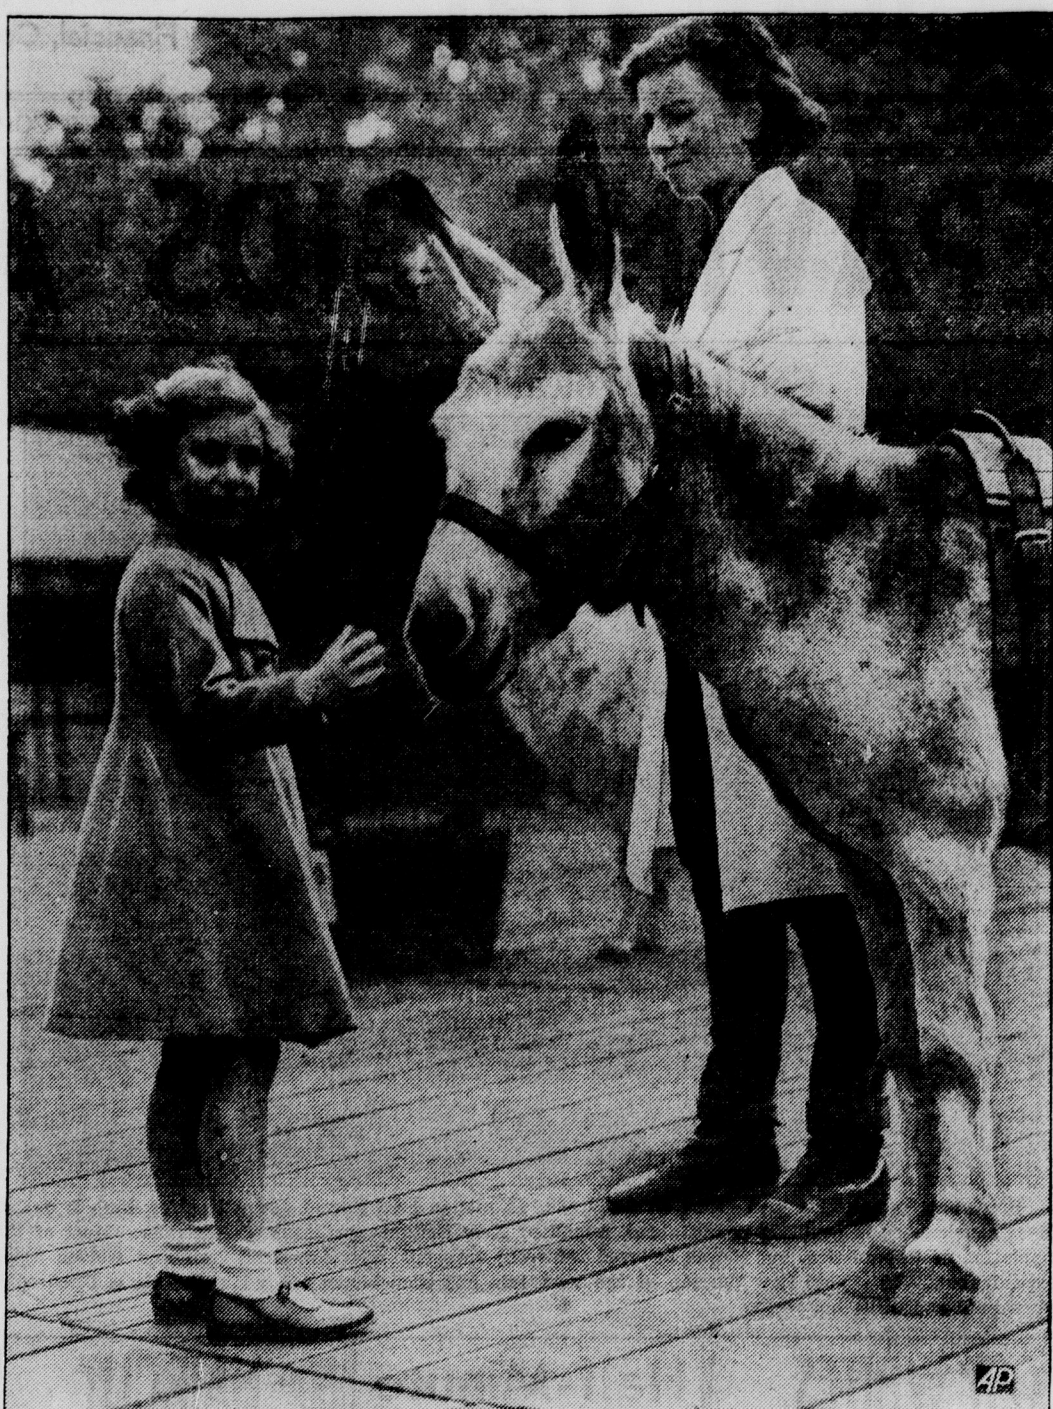

Dr. Margaret Baker, Mrs. M. W. Hollingsworth, Allen Hollingsworth, Robert Scott, and John Tullett drove to Mexico City a month ago for a holiday trip. En route they found Arizona and New Mexico excessively warm, but Mexico City itself was pleasantly cool, and they had an enjoyable time there, making all the interesting side trips that are so intriguing to foreign travelers. The party returned Sunday, preceded by Dr. Baker who came by plane because of the heat.

MRS. IRVINE IS HOSTESS AT DINNER PARTY

Mrs. James Irvine entertained at a little dinner party last evening honoring Mrs. Baldwin Wood of San Francisco, mother of Mrs. Irvine's daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Thornton White, Jr.

Informality and simplicity characterized the affair to which a dozen guests were bidden. In the absence of James Irvine, who is vacationing in Alaska, William White officiated as host for his mother.

Your Baby Book

By BETTY GUILD

Goodness! Are our toddlers ever hitting the vacation spots these days! Infants about town are scarce as can be, and when they are visible it seems to be just sort of a taking-off for beach, mountains, or what have you.

Richard Winkler, for example, all got together in the briefest of shorts and swimming trunks these days, for they're spending this next whole month down at Balboa with their mother and grandmother. Richard Townsend Winkler, "Tommy" to his friends, is going on six, and although he enjoys roughing it around with the other guys, he is always reliable and on hand when it comes to looking out for his baby brother, young David Campbell Winkler, who is just five months old. Both little fellows are tow-heads, with warm grey eyes, and both are already pretty tan.

Tommy has a collecting mania—nothing in particular, but he just collects anything and everything. His rock collection is really the paramount thing now, but he feels bound by no limits. His drawers and pockets are full of the most widely varied objects imaginable, all, no doubt, with some very special importance for Master Winkler! He'll probably have a super-shell group when he comes back to North Park boulevard, all set to go to school the first of September!

The Cassius Paul youngsters have really been doing themselves proud vacationing, too. Jimmie, who is also starting school this fall, is attending boarding school, if you please! With his very charming older friend, Miss Priscilla Allen, he is having the grandest month imaginable. Sports and games are supervised, and there are vacation lessons, and everything!

Chubby three-and-a-half Suzanne has also deserted the family fold, until just this week. She's been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ridley Smith and their two charming little daughters. Noreen, who is seven, and Marianne, who is nine, had complete charge of Suzanne for 10 days. They saw that her hands were washed, that she ate properly, that she took her nap on time, and all the dozens of things that good little girls have to do.

But the fun of it was that Suzanne and the Smiths were up in Silverado canyon all the time—and that's a real vacation paradise for the little ones. A lazy, rippling stream swishes right past their back door, with perfectly elegant rocks to build things with. And of course there are unlimited opportunities for three little girls to go exploring and such. Suzanne didn't want to come home at all—but now she's here she's having an awfully good time with her mother. The two of them are busy superintending the finishing touches on the new Paul home on Heliotrope Drive—and the very most fun is fixing up Jimmie's nautical bedroom, which is to be all in blue and white, with just very smart accents of cherry red. Mrs. Paul has finished a beautiful bedspread all festooned with sailor's rope (in white cotton) and is preparing to crochet a rug out of the same jaunty material. It's going to be a honey of a room for a little feller.

Someone else who's having a new room all fixed up for himself is Bobbie Williams, who, of course, is only two. His mother and dad are fixing up a real boy's room for him in their soon-to-be-moved-into house. Bobbie is just home from a stretched-out weekend at Arrowhead, where he had a grand time going on hikes and to the plunge.

The A. M. Robinettes are planning a nursery in blue and yellow for their diminutive Linda Lee, who has saucer-blue eyes with a great long dark lashes and goldy-brown curly hair. Blue is, as she realizes, her very best color, and she doesn't hesitate to demand it in her new dresses and socks. She has a passion for new shoes, and for having her hair shampooed, which for a young lady who is a mere two and a half seems to be quite a luxurious taste! But her mother believes that it will teach Linda Lee the great importance of caring well for her pretty hair, and so quite regularly she marches down to the beauty shop for her appointments. Something else quite precious about Linda is her flair for reading books and magazines. It's absolutely the fondest thing she's of—and she knows all her letters!

Eddie West, having just returned from a month spent way up in the mountains with his grandpa, the J. B. Stephenson of Descanso, has been taking in the beaches this past week. He went down for the first time with his little friend Bobbie Jo Wilson, who is several years older than his 16 months, and my! how he loved the water! His mother and Bobbie's mother took some very cute snaps of the two youngsters wading bravely into the brine—and the cutest thing about them is the Bernarr McFadden muscle build of the little blonde boy. He's going to be a football player, and no mistake!

Alvin George Edwards and his wife sister, Romaine Alice, aged two years and eight months, respectively, haven't had time to do much beaching yet, and are quite content in their own home that seems to be literally overflowing with toys! Alvin, blonde with curls and big brown eyes, has two weaknesses, other than his "Baby." One is his rocking horse, and the other is his pal "Queenie." The latter is a beautiful colly who is only a few months older than he, and who has, quite literally, grown up with her young master. The two of them have a lot of fun, and are really quite considerate of the baby sister, who isn't big enough to run around with them yet. Romaine Alice, with blue eyes and black curls, will be a year old Nov. fifth, while her big brother was two just last Thursday. Incidentally, Alvin eats perfectly by himself, talks a blue streak, and is generally pretty well-advanced for so little a tyke.

Another Claudia made her bow to Baby-Land yesterday. Just two months younger than Miss Claudia Brakebill, little Claudia Ruth Adams is 'way up in Corvallis with her new mother and daddy. The child of lovely Edna Kate Adams, and handsome Elmer Adams, owns

KASTORFF-WAITE NUPTIALS ARE ANNOUNCED

Announcement was made by Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kastorff of 1004 North Patton street of the marriage Saturday noon of their daughter, Miss Virginia Kastorff, to Kenneth Waite, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Stroud, also of Santa Ana.

The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of the Yuma Methodist church, with the Rev. W. L. Summers officiating. Miss Betty Jean Smith, whose house guest was Mr. and Mrs. Kastorff, was her only attendant, wearing an ensemble of powder blue and white with gardenias. The bride wore a smart outfit of grey gabardine with scarlet accessories and gardenias.

Don Kastorff, brother of the bride, attended Mr. Waite, and later the wedding party was entertained at a bridal dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith.

Mr. Waite is connected with George Dunton and Company and he and his bride are both graduates of Santa Ana High school. They are making their home temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. Stroud until their own new home is ready for them.

SEVEN GIRLS AT ARROW-BEAR

A gay group of Orange young women is enjoying a week's vacation at the Walter League summer camp at Arrow-Bear, halfway between Lake Arrowhead and Big Bear.

In the party are Esther Schulz, Irene Schroeder, Ruth Schroeder, Dorothy Schroeder, Evelyn Kogler, Carolyn Kogler and Myrtle Meyer.

CARMANS ARE HOME FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Carman and their son, Lyndon Carman, have returned to their home at 1904 Bush street after a pleasant two-week vacation.

They drove to Denver and Colorado Springs, visiting relatives at both cities. En route they toured Grand Canyon, and on their return trip visited at Bryce Canyon and Zion National Park.

W. B. A. FRIDAY Women's Benefit association will meet Friday noon at the home of Mrs. Margaret Culver, 1033 West Third street.

can't doubt her ultimate beauty, but no one yet has heard just what she does look like! Her Aunt Ruth (Mrs. Ernest Stump) has promised to inform the Baby Book just as soon as she herself knows.

One other newcomer to our Book this week is Master Richard Humeston, the son of the Vincent Humestons. He was born July 18, and for a few moments created plenty of excitement around the hospital, what with firemen rushing around with inhalators and such. But he soon got his breath, and now can yell as lustily as any husky boy. He'll be fun to get in touch with later, too.

Toddle-ho!

MISS ARMSTRONG PRAISED FOR QUARTET HELP

A great part of the honors won by the Santa Ana Elks' double quartet, which tied for first place at the recent national convention tournament held at Denver, were due to their director, Miss Ruth Armstrong, charming local musician.

Miss Armstrong has devoted many months to coaching the voices of the quartet, in addition to accompanying them upon the piano. Five glue clubs from all over the country competed at the convention, and she was the only feminine director. The local quartet appeared upon several major programs under her guidance while in Denver, before audiences of thousands, and members are unanimous upon their return to Santa Ana, in giving enthusiastic credit to their talented director.

With one major victory to her credit now, Miss Armstrong is concentrating upon the ladies' trio and quartet of the American Legion auxiliary, which will compete at the California convention at Stockton Aug. 8. She is also sole director of these groups.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED

The silver wedding anniversary today of Mr. and Mrs. Cary L. Weaver of 931 Spurgeon street has been occasion for many pleasant courtesies from friends and relatives.

To complete the enjoyable day they had invited a group of family members to their home for dinner this evening. Gathered around the flower-centered table were Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Doss, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Doss, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Duwel and William Duwel, Mrs. Thomas Nave of Prescott, Ariz., Mrs. Katherine Passwater and Miss Betty Passwater of Walnut Grove, Mo.

The two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver, Howard Weaver of Chicago and Sam Weaver of Springfield, Mo., were unable to be present for the festivities today which celebrated their parents' marriage at Springfield 25 years ago, but sent affectionate messages and flowers.

EARELS HOSTS AT ISLAND COTTAGE

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Earle extended a pleasant little courtesy to their fellow members on the Kiwanis entertainment committee this week when they entertained them at their Channel Island summer home.

Most of the group gathered at the beach early in the afternoon, enjoying swimming, aquaplaning, and boating. Later they were taken to a nearby cafe for dinner, and spent the evening in casual conversation and making plans for the Kiwanis summer picnic scheduled for this evening.

Guests of Dr. and Mrs. Earle were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harness, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Scouler, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright, Dr. and Mrs. Cassius Paul, and Mrs. Kenneth Sutherland.

PARK PICNIC ENJOYED BY B. AND P. W.

Business and Professional Women abandoned their regular formal and business-like dinner meetings last night for an enjoyable picnic dinner at Irvine park, which was served by the Doris-Kathryn team.

Mrs. Laura McKnight presided over the evening, with those in attendance being the Misses Damaris Beeson, Artie Clever, Dorothy Decker, Helen Gallagher, Mary Hillyard, Mary Howard, Alma Karlsson, Lulu Ott, Elizabeth Perkins, Lena Thomas, Hattie Whidden, Effie White, Martha Whitson, Mrs. Anita Alexander, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, Mrs. Katherine Stinson, and Mrs. Flora Straub.

AVERY JOHNSON LEAVES ON TOUR

Avery Johnson, 616 South Broadway, left this morning for El Paso, Texas, on the start of a two-months motor trip. He will join his mother, Charles E. Johnson in El Paso, and the two will spend two months touring the Atlantic coast. They will first visit Florida, then motor along the seaboard into the New England states.

GROUP RETURNS FROM MOUNTAINS

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Vernon returned to their home, 2020 Santiago street, after spending a week in a cabin at Forest Home. As guests during some of the week, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rumell, 702 South Van Ness street, joined Mr. and Mrs. Vernon. Completing the party were Betty Louise, Peggy, and Mary Vernon, and JoAnna and Charlene Rumell.

ATTEND BOWL CONCERT

Mrs. Fred Vollmer (Ida Stark Vollmer), local pianist of note, was a guest of Los Angeles friends attending the recital of Rosina and Joseph L'Hevinne, guest artists at the Hollywood Bowl. They played piano duets and solos with an accompanying orchestra, and won much applause from the audience for their rendition of Mozart and Liszt concertos.

To remove rust stains from the refrigerator, rub with steel wool and then apply a coat of white enamel. This is an inexpensive and effective treatment.

Prevalence of Divorce Makes Young Woman Afraid To Get Married

Marriage is every woman's problem—and divorce a growing threat to marital permanence. How could divorce possibly affect marriage. Off-hand you'd say that it wouldn't or couldn't. But it does that very thing probably more than we realize. A letter in the morning mail from a girl 24 years old is letting it affect her. Her parents were divorced and both re-married. Her two brothers, although they are over 40, have never married and declare they never will. Now she has found a man she cares more for than anything in the world, but she is afraid, ACTUALLY AFRAID to marry him! She doesn't ask whether she should or shouldn't take this step. She does, however, ask if marriage has failed? If there isn't some cure, some safeguard for the future generations against this dreadful curse which is slowly but surely spreading?

It is true that today divorce is six or eight times as frequent as it was 50 years ago. But that isn't a sign that marriage is a failure.

How can divorce be reduced? Uniform marriage and divorce laws in the 48 states would go a long way toward correcting this evil.

Reno, the modern Mecca for the misadvised, severs bonds politically but the divorces are not accepted in many of the states. Many Reno divorces, investigation reveals, get by merely because they are not contested. A woman, marrying a man, whose former marriage may be recognized at some future time still valid, is in a quandary as to the status of the children she may bear.

Preparative as it is that we take immediate measure to correct the divorce rate, we need not view with too great alarm the contention of those commentators who insist that the fairly high divorce rate is due to the failure of marriage as an institution.

The marriage turn of the moment is a reflection of the social turmoil. Women are doing more independent thinking on politics, morality and education than they ever have done before. They used to echo the opinions of their husbands, and their husbands echoed the viewpoint of their fathers as grandfathers. Today both men and women are thinking more critically and demanding more of marriage, especially in personal companionship.

So far from feeling that marriage has failed, the present dissatisfaction on part of many young people shows that the standards are becoming higher, a girl is demanding more of her husband and he in turn asks greater mental and artistic attainments as well as the boon of companionship from her. He still likes to have his slippers brought to him—but he wants his wife to be able to sit down and discuss the situation in Germany with him with a show of intelligence.

The question then arises as to how women may enter into this state of marriage, avoiding the treachery which may result when emotions get too violent a play and two people marry only to end in a divorce court.

Marriage laws should be tightened. They should be uniform. Two people who love each other, are so suited to each other that they pass tests of compatibility, and measure up to high physical and moral standards, are likely to build a lasting marriage. In fact, if marriage were made as difficult as a divorce now is in many states, and divorce as easy as marriage is in many others, a better balance in marital statistics might ensue.

Fortunately the playboy group that goes to Reno and treats marriage so lightly is not representative of the country as a whole. Most people do not want their marriages to end in failure. True, the marital situation is in a turmoil. The signs are good. With wise direction and understanding something may make of marriage something fine and dignified and—everlasting.

LOCAL WOMAN HOME FROM TRIP

Mrs. Ted Alumbaugh, 1117 West Fifth street, returned to her home yesterday after a five weeks trip through the Middle West, with many stops to visit relatives.

In the party going East were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Nittel and daughter June of Placentia and Mrs. L. A. Nittel of Anaheim. After visiting in Illinois, the Placentia people returned to their homes by way of Yellowstone National Park.

Mrs. Alumbaugh, with Mrs. L. A. Nittel went on to Wisconsin, then to Flint, Mich., to take delivery on a new car.

RETURNS FROM OREGON VISIT

Mrs. Charles Carothers, house manager of the Ebell club, returned this week-end from a trip of two weeks through Oregon to her home, 521 Wellington drive. She was accompanied on the trip by Dr. and Mrs. T. G. Kirby (Margaret Carothers), her son-in-law and daughter, from Los Angeles. The group drove to Portland, making several side trips on the way. They spent several days in San Francisco on the way back to Southern California.

MUNROS, BOYERS HOME FROM TRIP

Mrs. Emily Munro and the Misses Jean and Margaret Munro, with Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Boyer as their guests, drove to Yosemite last week. After leaving the valley they drove to Monterey and Carmel on the way home. It was the Boyers' first visit to those lovely spots.

Hermosa Has Supper And Cards

Planning for a "Courtly Night" at the chapter's regular meeting on August second with the Star Points in charge, Hermosa chapter of the Order of Eastern Star had an enjoyable social time last evening at the Masonic temple.

Members gathered first for a pot-luck supper at prettily decorated tables, which were in charge of Lenore Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Livesey, Hannah Stusey, Bess McWilliams, Ferris Reid, Don Hildreth, and Francis Jacoby.

They later held a brief business session with Elizabeth Lewis and Harold Nelson, worthy matron and worthy patron, in charge. Cards occupied the remainder of the evening, with high score prizes at contract going to Katherine Reid and John Swanke, and at auction to Clara Seaver and Ed Moore. Low prizes went to Rena Bouchard, J. E. Gowen, Ola Anderson, and Dr. S. L. Aubin.

Performing reception duties earlier were Mrs. Cora Jagg, Mrs. Lula Drake, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore. Veda Berry was chairman of the card party and was assisted by Bernice Perryman and Oa Swanke.

TWO BIRTHDAYS FETED DURING CLUB SESSION

Mrs. Howard Egginton complimented two members of the Coreopsis club of Tustin on their birthdays when she entertained the entire group in her home, 1046 West Camille street, yesterday afternoon.

Birthday gifts were presented by the club members to Mrs. Pearl Furtch and Mrs. Leona Alderman. Mrs. Egginton served a large pink birthday cake to the group at tables set in the garden of the home.

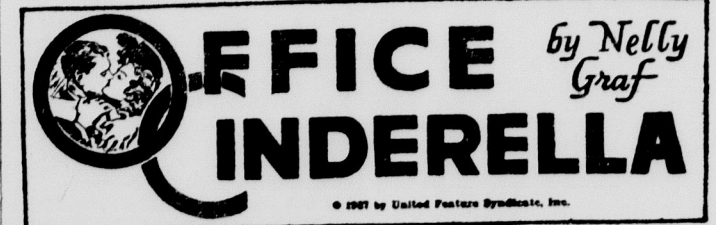

Members present were the Mesdames Annie Myers, Sarah Matthews, Ethel Alderman, Pearl Furtch, Molly T. Smith, Ellen Howes, Ida B. Doughty, Sally Hubbard, Mary Kuhl, Norma Pioper, S. C. Silvers, J. C. Rogers, and the hostess.

G. Hoxie, mother of Mrs. Hammond and her guests, who lives at the Hammond home. This is the group's first reunion in eight years.

PICNIC TONIGHT Homebuilders' class of the First Christian church will meet tonight at 7:30 under the pier at Huntington Beach. A committee will provide fish and coffee. Members and guests are to bring their own table service.

CHAPTER XXXII

AS Patty Lou hurried along the street, she was vaguely amazed at herself. Could this be she, the sweet, gentle Patty Lou Palmer—this angry, determined young lady on her way to enter a man's apartment and take what did not belong to her? But she had no compunction. She must, at all costs, thwart Vern's scheme to ruin Dale!

Reaching the apartment building, she found the janitor and asked him to let her into Vern's apartment, explaining that she was a friend of his.

"Why, I can't do that!" he exclaimed. "I can't let strangers into tenants' apartments!"

"But—but he said you would let me in," Patty Lou lied. "You see, I—I left something there."

The janitor hesitated. "Well," he said, "I suppose it will be all right if I go along and watch. What did you leave?"

"I left my—my—" Patty Lou gulped.

Her heart had sunk at his words, "If I go along and watch." "Well, what was it?" the janitor growled. "Hat? Pocketbook?"

"No-o-o."

Patty Lou's mind was working fast. She must name something that would be in the closet, where the box was, so that she could get the box without his noticing.

"My—I left my pajamas." She could wrap the box in pajamas she thought, swiftly.

"Your what?"

As the janitor stared at her Patty Lou's face turned crimson.

"Please—you'll let me get them won't you? Please!"

"I left them here," she said hesitantly, going over to a big chair "I wonder."

"Look in the closet," the janitor suggested. She could have hugged him for playing so neatly into her hand.

She stepped inside the big closet, she saw a pair of silk pajamas hanging on a hook. Nice of Vern to be so obliging—to wear silk pajamas! Her face on fire Patty Lou snatched them from the hook. The janitor was watching.

"I'll get you some paper to wrap them in," he said gruffly. He shuffled out of the room. Now was her chance!

HER eyes skimmed over the two closet shelves. There was no box except a hat box. But there must be another! As she searched frantically, her foot touched something hard.

She looked down. A small, black tin box! That was it! Quickly, she grabbed it and wrapped it in the pajamas.

Ah, just in time! The janitor was returning.

"Here," he barked. "All I could find was newspaper."

"Th-thank you,"

Patty Lou stepped from the closet, took the newspaper, and wrapped it around the pajamas. Then, she wanted to run, as fast as her feet could carry her, but she had to poke along with the janitor, who insisted on delivering her a parting lecture.

When she finally got away, she hurried to a department store. She'd go to the rest room, unlock the box, take the letters out, and check the package. Then, she'd go at once to the Northcutt Construction Company.

In the rest room, she slipped into a telephone booth, closed the door, and began to tear the wrapping from her packages. What if it wasn't the box containing the letters? What if the key wouldn't fit?

The pajamas and newspaper were a heap on the floor now. Patty Lou's king hand took the key from her pocketbook, and inserted it in the little keyhole.

New Recipes Get Menus Out of Ruts

By JUDITH WILSON

Do you feel that your menus are getting into a rut? The following recipes will give you something different and you will be surprised when you see how inexpensive and easy they are to prepare.

Short Ribs of Beef
Ask the butcher for 2½ pounds short ribs of beef and season them in a small amount of fat in a heavy skillet. Sprinkle with salt. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons water, cover tightly and cook over low heat for 1 hour or until tender. Measure the drippings. Blend ¼ cup flour with ¼ cup drippings, add a dash of pepper, ½ teaspoon kitchen bouquet and 2 cups boiling water. Stir and cook until very smooth, strain and pass the gravy with the meat. This is rich meat and very flavorful.

Meat Pasties
Mix ½ pound coarsely chopped beef, ½ pound coarsely chopped veal, ½ cup canned tomatoes, ½ teaspoon salt, a few grains pepper, 1 teaspoon sage, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and ½ teaspoon dry mustard. Let stand in the refrigerator an hour to blend the seasoning. Make a rich pie pastry and roll out on a flour board. Cut in 6-inch squares. Form the meat mixture into rolls and lay one in the center of each square. Moisten the edges of the pastry with cold water and fold over to enclose the meat, envelope fashion. Press the edges together with the fingertips. Prick the tops with the tines of a fork to let steam escape. Place on a baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven 35 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

Stuffed Tomatoes
Cook 6 or 8 anchovies into small pieces. Add 4 hard-cooked eggs that have been chopped fine, and ½ cup mayonnaise and mix well. Hold 6 medium-sized tomatoes over an open flame and remove the skins. Scoop out the centers and fill with the egg and anchovy mixture. Cover with the pieces of tomato cut from the top and garnish with wedges of lemon and small sprigs of parsley. Chill thoroughly and serve on crisp lettuce.

TWO VISIT IN RAMLOSE HOME

Two residents of El Centro have been guests in the home of Mrs. Ronda Ramlose, 222 South Barton street, during the first part of the week.

Miss Johnnie Richards visited here over the week-end, but returned to her home yesterday evening. Eugene Heiss, Jr., the other guest, was also in Santa Ana for the week-end, but drove to Los Angeles on business yesterday before returning to El Centro.

F. D. R. to Meet Jimmy Walker

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt arranged a meeting today with James J. Walker, former mayor of New York.

They have not met, White House aides said, since 1932 when Walker resigned from office in the midst of a gubernatorial investigation of charges looking toward his removal. The President at that time was governor of New York state.

White House officials said Walker asked for the appointment in connection with a bridge project in New York.

Home Service Dreams Explained By Modern Psychology

Dream Clues to Problems
"Which dream symbols are important?" everybody asks. It depends on the dreamer!

You may dream of a dance. If you love fun, have lots of it, you're re-living good times.

But perhaps you have less fun than you like. Then if you dream you're at a dance—but keep yourself apart from the crowd—your dream means you're trying to feel superior to people whose good times you secretly envy. It warns you: "Wake up! Smile more, sneer less, win friends!"

Other symbols you read the same way. To dream of a friend in a veil may mean you think she's hiding something. But if you thought veils "elegant" when a child, it means you admire her.

If you are a shy person, to dream of wild animals hints you fear strong emotions. But if you're not shy, a wild animal dream is an escape for untamed impulses.

With our 32-page booklet as a guide you can easily read your dreams. By a noted psychologist. Send 10c for your copy of The Meaning of Dreams to The Journal Home Service, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

When making canapes, it is advisable to toast the small bits of bread first and then spread with butter to give flavor as well as to prevent the topping from soaking into the bread. Often canapes can be spread just before serving. Sometimes they are spread in advance, then popped into a moderate oven for a minute to freshen and brown.

MAJOR PREVIEW AT BROADWAY

A "sneak" preview from a major studio will be screened at the Broadway theater tonight, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The new picture, from the Paramount studio, stars one of the most popular actors of the day, it was announced. The preview will go on the screen at 8:35 p. m. A complete show will be presented both before and after the preview, but theatergoers should come to the show early, Fountain said.

The program now showing at the Broadway, which will be screened in addition to the preview, features "Easy Living," sparkling and witty comedy with Jean Arthur, Ray Milland, Edward Arnold and Luis Alberni, and "The Case of the Stuttering Bishop," Erle Stanley Gardner murder mystery featuring Donald Woods as the fictional sleuth, Perry Mason. Ann Dvorak has the feminine lead in the latter film.

Make Salad Dressing Interesting

On warm evenings nothing tempts the family's appetite as much as a cool, crisp salad. As we have said before, it is necessary to have the ingredients cold and crisp and fresh but not than that it is important that the salad dressing be interesting and tasty. Different salads require different types of dressings as we all know, and during the salad season it is a good idea to have several kinds on hand.

Minted Dressing Parisian
Two-thirds cup lemon juice or vinegar, 10 sprigs fresh mint, 1-1/2 cups oil (olive or salad), 1 tablespoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne, 2 tablespoons glycerine.

Strip leaves of mint and place in saucepan. Cover with lemon juice or vinegar and heat to boiling point. Remove from fire and let stand a few minutes. Remove mint leaves, add remaining ingredients and chill. Serve on fruit salads.

Cream Dressing à l'Epicure
Two eggs or 4 egg yolks, 1/2 tablespoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of paprika, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 cup sour cream, 4 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice, 2 tablespoons glycerine.

Beat eggs (or yolks) in top of double boiler. Mix dry ingredients and add to egg, blending well. Add sour cream and stir in vinegar (or lemon juice) slowly. Cook over hot (not boiling) water until mixture thickens to a consistency of soft custard—or enough to coat spoon. Stir in glycerine and set aside to cool.

Persian Fruit Plate
(6 servings)
One large Persian melon, 1 pound small red cherries, 3 small bananas, 1 fresh pineapple, 1 1/2 cups strawberries or blackberries, 1 package cream cheese, 1 tablespoon mint leaves, 1 cup salad dressing, 1 teaspoon plain gelatin, 1 tablespoon cold water.

Pit cherries, stuff with cream cheese. Cut Persian melon into small balls. (Three medium cantaloupes may be used in place of Persian melon if preferred.) Combine balls with cherries. Arrange these in lettuce cups, allowing one cup for each serving. Peel bananas, roll in lemon juice. Cut in half and place half banana on each lettuce cup. Combine the pineapple and strawberries or blackberries and arrange in lettuce cups. Sprinkle with cut mint leaves. Dissolve gelatin in cold water, then mix with salad dressing. Pour into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serve one mold with each lettuce cup.

Green beans should be uniform in size if they are to cook evenly. Test beans for freshness by seeing if they snap when they are broken in half. The best peas will be velvety to touch, bright green in color (never yellow) and rather plump. Plumpness indicates that pods are filled with peas of even size.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD.—Think everybody wants to be in pictures? Then meet Dave Chasen. . . . Dave's the funny fellow. . . . Was with Joe Cook for years, eight of 'em. . . . Played in pictures, too. . . . But Dave got tired of acting. . . . He wanted to run a restaurant. . . .

Back in New York he used to putter around kitchens and wove the gang with after-theater feeds. . . . But he never got a chance to turn pro until he came out here. . . . He puttered around movie kitchens so much that Frank Capra and Lew Gensler, the producer, talked him into opening a place. . . .

GOES OVER BIG
It's going over big. . . . Dave figures the only star he hasn't fed so far is Gable. . . . It's a hangout for the New York crowd, movie writers and newspapermen like

Light Foods Preserve Cool Feeling

If you wish to keep peppy and active during the summer do not allow yourself to become "stuffy" by eating large, heavy meals. If you do find yourself becoming hungry between meals, eat fresh fruit or drink fruit juices or water and you will find that you are much happier and more alert.

During the summer avoid heavy, rich sauces and gravies. Rich desserts and hot breads and rich cakes all tend to have a heating effect on the body.

Instead of serving potatoes at every dinner why not plan to serve two other vegetables, they will cut down on the calories and satisfy the family's appetite.

Also choose meats that are not too fat, and cut down on the amount of meat served. Of course some protein is needed for it is essential in taking care of the wear and tear of the body as it builds new tissues in the body.

Cucumber Salad
(6 to 8 servings)
Two envelopes clear gelatin, 2 medium cucumbers, peeled and chopped, 1 cup cold water, 1 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup tomato juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 teaspoons onion juice, salt and pepper to taste.

Peel and chop cucumbers. Dissolve gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water, tomato juice, onion juice, lemon juice, salt and pepper and sugar. Mix well and cool. Add cucumbers and mix well.

Dip individual molds in cold water, drain. Then fill with cucumber gelatin mixture. Chill until firm. Unmold and decorate with fresh or canned shrimp or crab. Serve with a bowl of chilled mayonnaise brightened with a little paprika.

Orange Creamy Custard
(4 to 6 servings)
Two egg yolks, beaten, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup orange juice, 1 cup cream, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind.

Mix ingredients thoroughly. Place in double boiler, stirring frequently until mixture thickens. Cool. In attractive shallow dish, arrange a layer of broken macaroon. Pour in the custard. Cover with this meringue: Beat 2 egg whites until frothy, add 1/4 cup sugar and continue to beat. Do not brown in oven.

Orange Sherbet
(1 1/2 quarts)
Two cups sugar, 3 cups water, 2 cups orange juice, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Combine sugar and water. Boil for 10 minutes, then cool. Add orange and lemon juice. Freeze to mush, using automatic refrigerator or crank freezer. Then add stiffly beaten egg whites. Continue to freeze.

KIPLING DRAMA ENDS TONIGHT

"Captains Courageous," one of the great sea stories of modern literature, will show for the last time tonight at the West Coast theater.

Rudyard Kipling's thrilling saga of the Gloucester fishermen features a notable cast, headed by Freddie Bartholomew, Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore and Melvyn Douglas.

Freddie plays the American boy, son of a millionaire, who is swept from a liner by a huge wave and is rescued by Manuel, a Portuguese fisherman, played by Tracy. This role is the most colorful of any Tracy ever attempted.

The theme of the story tells how the boy is put to work on the fishing schooner, "We're Here," and how his regeneration is brought about through honest fellowship, hard work and a new understanding of what life really means. Mickey Rooney is teamed with Freddie in this great film.

The special program of selected short subjects on the program includes a featurette, "Little Pioneer," done entirely in Technicolor and starring Sybil Jason, a screen song with Shep Fields and his orchestra; an amusing and thrilling comedy, "The Circus Comes to Town," and World News events.

Tomorrow the West Coast will open with a complete new show, featuring "Saratoga," the last picture ever made by lovely Jean Harlow before her tragic death. It is a colorful race track story, in which Miss Harlow and Clark Gable love, hate, fight, love and romance. Second feature will be "Born Reckless," fast-paced drama with Brian Donlevy, Rochelle Hudson, Robert Kent and Barton MacLane.

Film Laurel, Hardy In County Soon

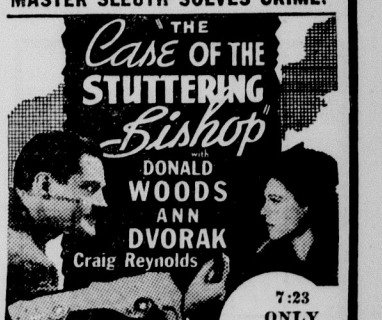

Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy and Patsy Kelly will cavort among the acrobatics of Irvine park within the next few weeks, according to reports from Culver City.

They will be on location in the park filming "Road Show," a new Hal Roach comedy. Almost all the picture will be filmed at the studio in getting ready, it's off in a corner of the lot, screened by wire. . . . Zanuck said to slip out there and work himself into a lather going nowhere and swinging mallets, barely shielded from Pico boulevard traffic. . . . The horse is still comic, even without Zanuck up. . . .

World-shaking announcement: "All the clever people in the world are not in motion pictures"—Buddy DeSylva, as quoted in Universal publicity.

RAINBOW CLUB TO MEET

THE WOODEN SENTINEL ...

When the French took Naples in 1806, Ferdinand IV and his court fled to Sicily, leaving behind them a princess, the king's half-sister, Joseph Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon, ascended the throne of Naples and provided the neglected princess with a slender income. Under the rule of her half-brother, the princess had become used to having a soldier stand guard outside her door. Evidently half-crazed by her misfortunes, she now pleaded that the practice be continued. Bonaparte refused the request and the princess became ill. Finally someone suggested that a wooden soldier be placed outside the door of her house at Portici. Surprisingly enough, the wooden sentinel restored the princess to health for a while. The effect of passing it without receiving the customary salute began to prey on her mind, however, and she again sickened, dying soon afterward. The wooden figure was still on guard ten years after her death.

Dish-Drying's A Picnic With These

PATTERN 5891

Better than a picnic is the fun you'll have embroidering tea towels with these gayer than gay motifs—luscious cross stitched fruits and homey everyday kitchenware. Do the dishes in outline stitch or applique as you choose. The patch is a simple one to handle and adds a splash of color. It's a novel idea to have a set of these ready to offer at your State Fair in the Fall. In pattern 5891 you will find a transfer pattern of six motifs averaging 5 1/4 x 6 1/4 inches; material requirements; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches used.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

WOMAN N. Y. 'RIDE' VICTIM

NEW YORK, (AP)—The body of an attractive young woman, shot three times near the heart, was found today sprawled alongside the roadway of the Harlem river speedway, apparently the victim of an underworld ride. Her identity was not immediately established.

Her clothes were rumpled and dust-covered, and from their appearance the police concluded she probably had been tossed from a car as it raced along the old road, near 166th street.

The woman wore a leather wind breaker, a purple blouse and blue skirt of rayon or silk, tan stockings and blue oxfords. She was about 30 years old, dark of skin and apparently of Spanish or Italian origin.

STRIKE CLOSES CEMENT PLANT

REDWOOD CITY, (AP)—The $5,000,000 plant of the Pacific Portland Cement company was closed yesterday by a strike called by the San Francisco local of the International Association of Machinists.

The plant is the largest wet-process cement concern in the world and manufactures cement through a process involving use of oyster deposits in the bay.

Harry Hook of San Francisco, union business agent, said the strike involved disagreement with the company over wage proposals and a demand for a closed shop.

PAIR DIE IN N. Y. ATTACK

NEW YORK, (AP)—Police, pursuing a murder theory, awaited an autopsy today on the bodies of a young couple found dead in their Queens apartment under strange circumstances.

The couple, George Chinery, 38 and his wife, Ella, 25, apparently had been dead for several days. The bodies were found late last night by patrolmen summoned by Chinery's father and George Sherbetjian, the apartment owner.

COUNCIL FOR STATES ASKED

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Rep. H. Jerry Voorhis, San Dimas, Cal., proposed today authorization of a $150,000 appropriation yearly to the council of state governments. He proposed federal departments be allowed to utilize the council's services.

HOUSE AIDS 'DRY' STATES

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The house passed and sent to the senate the Tarver bill designed to help dry states protect themselves against out-of-state liquor shipments.

The measure, advocated by Representatives from Georgia and Kansas, was passed without a roll call.

Persons convicted of transporting intoxicants into dry states would be subject to fines up to $1000 and prison terms up to five years.

MOB THREATENS GIRL KILLER

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Cesare Della Valle, 44, was arrested yesterday charged with killing 16-year-old Augustina Massari.

Police hurried the man from the station after a crowd of about 200 people gathered and threatened the prisoner.

Lieut. Frank Mays said Valle admitted he shot the girl in her home last night, but refused to give a reason for the act.

What, No 'Silly Season'?

It really begins to look as though this country may get through the heated months this year without any of those unaccountable outbreaks of mass goofiness which used to be an annual summer phenomenon.

One year it would be tree-sitting. All over the country, small boys and girls that year went in for roosting in the branches of the family oaks and elms, sticking to their lofty perches day and night until exhaustion set in or provoked parents finally took a hand.

Other silly seasons, memory recalls, had us all agog over battles to the death between spiders and young snakes, trousered females, jigsaw puzzles, bicycle riding, male beauty contests, marathon dancing and mah jongg.

Thus far in the summer of 1937 the collective impulse to go gaga over some senseless or otherwise harmless pastime seems to be missing. Some of the innovations of previous years over which we went slightly barmy when they were first sprung on us are still with us, it is true, but we accept them now as a matter of course. Ping pong and badminton have become legitimate sports; girls frolicking in play suits and shorts, women strolling in slacks, and husky males exposing their torsos to vitamin D sun rays excite neither curious stares nor angry glares, and girls now ride bicycles merely for exercise and the honest fun of it.

Possibly it's because we have too many serious things on our minds this year—labor strife in America, war tension in Europe and Asia, and the long-drawn-out supreme court crisis in Washington—that we're not taking up any childish fads this summer.

But perhaps it is too early to start cheering. The summer isn't over yet.

Headline says: "Strawberry crop in peril; pickers needed." There seems to be no shortage of eaters.

Perhaps Navy Learned Something

Has it occurred to any of the critics who have been lamenting the cost of the navy's search for Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan that, possibly, the navy welcomed the chance and has felt the experience amply worth while?

Has it occurred to these critics, for instance, that the hunt for the missing fliers has given the navy the opportunity to conduct a thorough, systematized aerial survey of many tens of thousands of square miles of those little known seas?

That this search and survey covered Japanese mandated island groups where, under ordinary circumstances, it would not have been proper for the navy planes to go?

The U. S. ships Itasca, Swan, Lexington and Colorado, with their airplanes, have unquestionably learned a great deal in recent weeks about the islands and reefs and seas and weather of that watery area. All of which doubtless will be filed away for future reference.

Incidentally, what a story could be imagined if, say, in a week or a month, Earhart and Noonan should now be discovered in some obscure spot all safe and sound!

The last rose of summer usually shows around a hay fever victim's nose.

A Petty Attempt to Smear Roosevelt

Recently President Roosevelt and several members of his family have been assailed for alleged tax evasion similar to that of which leading financiers have been accused by the New Deal.

The attacks, however, have not revealed a single instance of true tax evasion. The few instances cited were so petty that it would require a powerful stretch of the imagination to construe them as actual attempts to avoid paying legitimate taxes.

This newspaper deprecates such tactics on the part of Mr. Roosevelt's opponents, and we doubt if the attacks made the slightest impression on the public.

Certainly we do not hold the President above criticism, but any criticism should be based upon fact, not fancy. It should be made in a sincere effort to correct errors in government policy and not merely to smear the leader of a rival party and his family.

Al Capone must be having a laugh these days.
He was the first big tax evader.

Who Are the Aliens?

From Boston comes announcement of a new crusade to require public performers in the theater, sports and other fields to use their own names, in order that the public may know which among them are aliens.

The originator of this crusade bears the name of Francis X. Coyle. We wonder what Mr. Coyle's test will be for a non-alien, 100-per-cent American name? The rolls of the A. E. F. won't help him, because they contain names originating in every country on earth. The rolls of American achievement won't help him, for they do too.

Mr. Coyle is only a generation too late to remember when his own name would have been regarded in New England as alien, and members of the know nothing party and other bigots persecuted Irishmen or at least stirred up prejudice of the sort Mr. Coyle apparently feels for persons of some other racial origin.

The most useless of all pastimes is arguing about the weather.

Couldn't Happen Here

Chicago's moving picture censor, Lieut. Harry Costello, has ordered theaters not to show films of the Memorial day assault of the police on strikers and spectators.

A thing like that might happen in Chicago, but we don't believe it could happen in the United States.

ROOSEVELT'S FRIENDS GRAVELY DISTURBED

WASHINGTON.—Some of President Roosevelt's most loyal friends are gravely disturbed. They see him going down the same path that brought political disaster to Woodrow Wilson. They see him pursuing the same ruthless, uncompromising tactics in his supreme court fight that Wilson used, to his ruin, in the League of Nations struggle.

One day the senate reached the point where enough votes were in sight to ratify the Versailles treaty and put us into the League of Nations, provided the Lodge reservations were attached to the resolution of ratification. Those reservations embodied concessions to those who feared unqualified adherence to the League covenant. Wilson's senate leader in that fight, the late Sen. Gilbert Hitchcock, went to the White House. He told Wilson that he could get the treaty ratified if Wilson would accept the Lodge reservations. Wilson, hating Lodge, feeling as bitterly toward Republican opponents of the League as Roosevelt does toward Tories now, said no. The treaty must be accepted without the dotting of an "i" or the crossing of a "t." That was the report which Senator Hitchcock brought back to the senate with almost a broken heart because he knew it was the sentence of defeat. Willingness on the part of Wilson to accept a compromise would have saved him. He was too stubborn, too blind or too poor a judge of the situation to see that by relenting on some points he could achieve his larger ends. Demanding everything, he lost all.

BARRETT ALREADY BROKEN

Roosevelt has a program to which he is devoted with equal passion. It embraces his broad social objectives. He sees in his whole program a means toward improving conditions of American life just as Wilson saw in the League of Nations a means of lifting world conditions to a higher level.

In the Roosevelt program, the court reorganization proposal is but one of many measures. It arose as a gateway measure, at a time when his whole program seemed hopelessly blocked by the hostile attitude of a majority of the supreme court. Roosevelt was, in my opinion, justified in trying to break down this barrier.

But in the meantime the barrier itself gave way. Through all of last winter the court gave congress the benefit of the doubt in construing legislation. Had the court persisted in its earlier opposition, the enlargement plan probably would have been enacted long before this. With the changed situation, the pressing need for it disappeared. Van Devanter resigned. Roosevelt had won the essentials of what he sought with his court plan. In view of the strong opposition to going ahead, it was not worth what the fight would cost. This seems more clear with each passing day.

WHAT IS A STATESMAN?

A statesman is said to be a man who does not compromise with his ideals but only with the tempo of their fulfillment. In a democracy a statesman can carry his ideals into fulfillment only as he can sell them to his country. Dictators impose their ideals by decree and, if necessary, by force. Democratic leaders win popular acceptance for their ideals.

SHOULD RESPECT CONGRESS

Democrats have three out of four members in the house and senate. All of the representatives and most of the senators were elected by the same voters who elected Roosevelt. They are responsible to the same electorate that he is. No observer here thinks congress wants to enact the court plan. Roosevelt's own party is deep in a rebellion that has shaken it to its heels. In spite of every kind of executive pressure, the plan cannot pass, in the opinion of most persons here.

Under these circumstances, Roosevelt is attempting to substitute dictation for leadership. What ever course a dictator might pursue in such a situation, a Democratic statesman should have respect for his parliament and work with it, instead of himself being arbitrary and headstrong as the supreme court was when the issue came up.

Roosevelt could take a lesson from the way Chief Justice Hughes extricated the court from its hole last winter. In a crisis like this, Wilson is a poor model.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—The last time Senator Robinson saw the leader for whom he fought, was on the Sunday three days before he died. Robinson had spent the entire day down the Potomac indulging in his favorite pastime—fishing. He had gone out in a small boat with Leslie Bille, secretary to the senate majority, and with Russell Arundel, former secretary to ex-Senator Metcalf of Rhode Island.

Senator Robinson was a really expert fisherman. It was not a question of luck with him. If there were fish to be had anywhere around him, he got them. And on this particular Sunday, his last day of fishing, he hauled them in almost as fast as they could bite. He caught about a hundred Norfolk spots, throwing the hardheads back into the water.

Roosevelt, who also prides himself on being a good fisherman, always keeps the hardheads, which are easy to catch, and brings them back to the White House. Senator Robinson fished all day. The sun was hot, but he appeared to be having a wonderful time. His spirits were at their highest. They were especially high when at the close of the day he saw Roosevelt's yacht, the Potomac, sail by. And from his small boat, the senator looked up at the chief whom he served, and remarked: "I'll bet he's got nothing on board but hardheads."

NEW SENATE LEADER
Senator Alben Barkley, who in all probability will succeed Joe Robinson as majority floor leader of the senate, would be the first sympathetic New Dealer Roosevelt has had in that position. Joe Robinson was a good soldier and died fighting, even though he did not always have his heart in the fight.

But Barkley has had his heart in the fight since before the days of Roosevelt. He already had a 100 per cent liberal voting record when Roosevelt came to Washington. And when he ran for governor of Kentucky in 1923, he was bitterly opposed by the horse-racing crowd, which in Kentucky is synonymous with big business. They defeated him.

But when he ran for the senate in 1926, they got behind him—for the sole and simple reason of keeping him out of the state.

Administration leaders plan to use the document to induce Green to crack down on his lieutenants; also as an argument showing the need for additions to the supreme court in order to ensure the validity of the legislation.

A. J. S., McKeesport, Penna.—The Washington residence of Postmaster General Farley is the Mayflower Hotel. . . B. C. G., Wheeling, W. Va.—Secretary of Labor Perkins was born in Boston in 1882. . . C. F. S., Clarksburg, W. Va.—The only way that the senate, according to its rules, can break a filibuster is by invoking cloture. If this is done, debate is thereafter limited to one hour by each member. To invoke cloture requires a two-thirds vote, however, and although it has been proposed many times, it has actually been invoked only four times since the rule was adopted in 1917. These occasions were: November 13, 1919, on the question of the German treaty; January 22, 1926, on the World Court; February 15, 1927, on the McFadden Banking bill; and February 28, 1927, on the bill to create a Bureau of Customs and Prohibition. Cloture has not been invoked at any time in the past ten years. . . J. H. Lamar, Mo.—It is not necessary for a CCC applicant to be a member of a family on relief. SHARP TONGUE
However, Barkley's greatest asset is that he is an excellent parliamentary scrapper. He does not go berserk as Joe Robinson did on occasions. He thinks on his feet, as fast as lightning, and was the only senator who could knock the ears off the late Huey Long.

One day Huey was holding forth about the fact that he had had only a fourth grade education, when he was interrupted by the senator from Kentucky, who innocently inquired: "Did the senator every study music?"

"A little," replied Huey modestly. "Then suppose," shot back Barkley, "the senator sings for us a little."

Or again when Senator Tydings of Maryland was demanding a processing tax on shoddy, Senator Barkley interrupted with: "The senator ought to know something about shoddy, since that is something on which he is an expert—shoddy being, according to Webster, 'an unfit person or thing claiming superiority.'"

Note—According to Barkley's wife: "He doesn't mind being a wife."

One Man's Opinion

WHAT ALASKA NEEDS
Almost everybody, either with or without standing as major or minor prophet, upon arriving in Alaska becomes suddenly endowed with wisdom which qualifies them to speak authoritatively on the subject of "What Alaska Needs."

I am not thinking of good Dr. Ales Hrdlicka at the moment, for he is, I am aware, a major prophet of proved and recognized standing, especially in that field relating to the comings and goings of the human race and its branches and subdivisions.

"What Alaska Needs" I found to be a rather popular topic of conversation even with Alaskans. And some of them indicated that certain governmental agencies at Washington could, if they would, supply that very thing.

Dr. Hrdlicka, who was in Juneau just ahead of my tour party, chided Alaskans in general for permitting so many of their legislative fields of endeavor to be dominated from "the Outside"—meaning the parental United States.

"Too many people in Alaska look upon the territory as a place of temporary abode," he said, "a place in which to make a stake and get back outside."

It is time, said the famous anthropologist, for Alaskans to adopt Alaska as their country and concentrate on furthering its interests.

With that thought still lingering in my mind I talked with an Alaskan newspaper editor who said, "What Alaska needs is a real empire builder, a man who will do great things on a great scale, someone to free us from the tradition that all good things must originate in politics and come to us by grace of the bureau and executives in our national capital."

Adding these two and several other volunteered "What Alaska Needs" together I arrived at an opinion of my own on the subject.

Alaska doesn't need anything. That gloriously wild and rugged country, which has given so bounteously from her barely tapped stores of natural resources, suffers no lack, has no want unfulfilled.

But the United States of America primarily and the world secondarily need Alaska. Young Americans of courage, daring, intelligence, imagination and resourcefulness have a serious need of Alaska.

For Alaska is—and this truly—the last physical frontier.

WANTS O. A. P. DISCUSSION

To the Editor: To use the 65-Plus group, as a medium of currency circulation is showing wisdom and foresight.

Give the old folks a square shot and harvest the results as follow: Today, oil and minerals, interests are reaping billions, thanks to Henry Ford's well intentioned initiative, and the demands which this has produced and our land is "Upside Down," quoting from the old song dating back to the days of our Revolution in 1776. Our big industries thus developed, do not or have not been able to show our public a healthy monetary spread. Theoretically the O. A. P. group first referred to, while dealing in small figures and free from political issues is a step in the right direction.

The writer would be glad to hear, through your column, some expressions, pro and con on this subject. CARL D. SMALLY.

OPPOSE HIGH BEACH RENTS

(Riverside Enterprise)
Many Riverside citizens will be interested in the anti-high-rent campaign which is in progress at Laguna Beach. The practice there, as well as at many other beach towns, of hiking rents during the summer months is meeting opposition.

The chamber of commerce of that highly artistic beach city points out that Laguna Beach is not strictly a summer resort, it is a "year-round place to live, the most delightful spot in Southern California"—a chamber of commerce would say that, of course.

Now a movement is under way to convince landlords that it is not a profitable practice. There are houses unoccupied even at the height of summer, because of this practice, it is declared. Leaders in this lower summer rent movement declare it is better to have houses occupied the year around, with a steady income for the owner, than have the houses empty, with huge rental prices plastered on the door.

As far as many Riversiders are concerned, their Laguna Beach houses are used week-ends during the spring, autumn and winter months, and rented during the summer while they enjoy a motor trip to eastern or northern points, for instance, or maybe across the ocean. The rent they receive for the summer months is determined in a large measure by the rent scale adopted by local landlords, and by the demand for houses.

They feel they are entitled to more rent for the three summer months for their houses, especially in view of the fact that they are occupied by summer renters only. Obviously, they rented by the year they would expect a much lower rental.

NEW YORK.—In New York the three most pronounced of the species the world calls sophisticates are Noel Coward, Dorothy Parker and Alexander Woollcott. Whatever they say is hailed as fearfully cutting, O. definitely, and devastatingly mirthful, no end. Often to be retold in whispers.

For many years the hotbed of sophistication was Frank Case's Algonquin, and touches of it still linger there, but its clientele has changed to a more settled crowd for whom razoring inoffensives is as much a fashion as the more of the philosophers there now, such as Hendrik Van Loon.

The fire cracker mottos now explode chiefly at that phut-crat phenomenon of the speak-easy peep hole days of prohibition called "No. 21." Here artists for Esquire and The New Yorker's "Arno" seem to find much material for the bold sweeps at the bromides of the day.

The so-called "sophisticated stuff" appeals to a limited audience. It has never gone over in the movies and few stage plays have had all-season runs exploiting it. On the radio sophistication is regarded with the same sniff as smut, which is a break for those of us who like to tune in.

I met the most pronounced Gilbert and Sullivan fan, I imagine, in the world, at the Valentine Williams' recently. Only on a solemn promise not to reveal his name would he discuss his worship of this brand of musical entertainment. He is an important executive with an industrial concern and has attended more than 600 performances here and abroad and knows by heart 20 roles. Among them "Strophon" in "Iolanthe," Archibald in "Patience," Fish in "The Mikado," Bill Bobstay in "Pinafore" and, of course, Ko Ko and Poo-Bah. He tells me there are two words in Poo-Bah's song not in the dictionary, yet sounding so right no one ever questions them. They are "abblution" and "diminution."

I always thought the grandest line in Gilbert and Sullivan—Poo-Bah's I think—was with a deal of pride he was tracking his ancestry "back to a protoplasmal primordial atomic globe." After repeating it a few times it is the sort that will roll off your tongue and send you skipping about the room, tra, la.

Top flight society boys and girls a shade zeroish in family exchequer are angling for jobs in swank inns and hotelodms have found they are of value. A notable contribution has been made by Obolensky, who at the request of his old-time brother-in-law, Vincent Astor, the owner, became the social arbiter of the St. Regis and did an amazing job of revivifying that hostelry. The St. Regis was an old-timer and becoming slightly passe when Obolensky began to wave the social wand. Recently the Ritz Carlton, owned by the socially-minded Robert Goetz, and directed by Albert Keller, called in "Waddy" Lewis, a bachelor, whose hobby has been society and who has now become a director of that inn. The Ritz is out to keep the lead always enjoyed. It is rumored that Grand Duchess Marie of Russia, when she offered the social hostessship of one of the small but exclusive inns on the upper East Side. It has been proved that in hotel restaurant patronage if an accomplished bell wether can be secured the sheep will come tumbling after.

There's no stretch in the world so axiomatic with mankind's sentimentality as Broadway. It will always ring the welkin for one who has come back. Broadwayites live generally on the edge of the volcano and to vanish and return smiling proves there is always a chance. A new target for the Broadway salvos is Joe Lewis, a cabaret comedian out of the social mine indeed with a tragic past. Gangsters took him for a ride one night, mutilating him horribly and left him for dead along the roadside. He made a slow, gallant recovery in three years, having to learn to walk and talk again. Today he is a sure fire show-stopper. Among other come-backs who have filled the pleasure halls this summer were Eddie Leonard, Joe Howard, Ann Pennington and Jack Osterman.

I never approach a soda fountain without the resurging of a secret unfilled hope the jerker will just for good measure, I suppose, if under pressure, I could pay for the extra blob, but that would shatter the dream of years. It must be the gratuitous gesture of suddenly inspired fellowship. I may never develop but I go on hoping and hoping.
